Feaster And Carroll Say Program 'Working Well'

... Chiefs Hold Meeting With Firemen

Fire Chief Paul Feaster and Police Chief Joe Carroll said Thursday that they believe the police-fire integration plan is working out well.

They expressed their views at the first of what will be a series of meetings with firemen at Lincoln fire stations. Feaster, Carroll, Welfare and Safety Director Emmett Junge, City Co-ordinator James Mallon, Personnel Director Ray Ramsay and City Councilman Ray Osborn will visit the stations and ask firemen for their views on the "buddy" plan.

The plan teams a fireman with a police officer for patrol duty, allowing more cars to be used without hiring additional policemen. It was put into operation Jan. 7.

Feaster said 27 small fires in this period have been put out by the fireman and his police partner, saving a trip by a fire engine. The fireman assigned to the cruiser carries a pistol and a fire extinguisher while on cruiser duty.

Many Questions

The 15 firemen attending the meeting asked many questions of the city officials, who have been appointed by Mayor Bennett Martin to evaluate the buddy plan. The most often-voiced complaint concerned the firemen having to take four-hour patrol stints during the midnight to 8 a.m. period.

Several firemen said this interferes with their sleep. As an example one cited a night when he answered a fire call about 10 p.m. and it took until about midnight to extinguish the fire and clean up the fire equipment used.

Then he went to bed but had to get up in time to go on patrol duty at 3:30 a.m.

Seek Same Pay

The firemen also said they believed they should be paid the same as the policemen if they are to perform the same duties.

Feaster and Junge both assured them that if the plan proves successful they will ask the City Council to boost the firemen's pay. At present the average fireman's monthly salary is about $20 lower than the policeman of comparable rank.

Councilman Osborn said he was one "who was very strong for trying this" plan and that it has proven it can be successful. Chief Carroll said he believed that "generally, the public accepts it," as they are "getting more for their tax dollar."

Oppose 'Total' Integration
Carroll and Feaster both stated, however, they would be opposed to a "total integration" of the two departments, and others on the committee agreed.

Feaster discounted rumors that firemen who openly expressed op-

Fireman Fired; Wouldn't Wear Police Weapon

Chief Feaster Says 'Insubordination' After Refusal To Carry Pistol

By DEL HARDING
Star Staff Writer

A Lincoln fireman who said he refused to wear a pistol while on patrol duty with a policeman because it is against his religious beliefs was discharged Thursday by Fire Chief Paul Feaster for "insubordination."

Feaster fired Fireman First Class Robert Lybarger of 1128 Cornhusker a few hours after a conference with city officials at the Fire Department. The chief said Lybarger, who joined the department Jan. 2, 1954, refused to wear a pistol when he reported for a four-hour stint of patrol duty at 3:30 a.m. Wednesday with a police cruiser officer.

Feaster

Feaster said it was reported to him that Lybarger had refused to carry a pistol on previous occasions when assigned to patrol duty under the police-fire integration plan, which teams a fireman with a policeman for patrol duty.

Feaster claimed that Lybarger did not cite religious beliefs as his excuse for refusing to wear a pistol when he was called in to explain the matter Wednesday morning.

Lybarger said this is not the case. He said he told Feaster he did not believe in carrying a gun and that he even quoted several scripture passages to him.

Feaster conferred with Police Chief Joe Carroll, Welfare and Safety Director Emmett Junge, Personnel Director Ray Ramsay, City Councilman Ray Osborn and City Co-ordinator James Mallon concerning the case. Lybarger was notified by telephone of the decision after the group ended a meeting with firemen at Fire Station No. 1 during which the integration plan was discussed.

Lybarger said he has twice taken four-hour patrol shifts since pistols were issued firemen Feb. 7. On both previous occasions, he said, he placed the pistol on the rear seat of the police cruiser. His police partners did not object, he added.

Policeman Objected

But when he reported for duty early Wednesday morning and placed the pistol on the cruiser's rear seat, Lybarger said, the policeman he was assigned to ride with told him "this car isn't moving" until that gun was strapped around Lybarger's waist.

Lybarger said he told the policeman that "it is against my beliefs" to wear a pistol. He got out of the cruiser and another fireman was assigned in his place.

Lybarger had previously served on cruiser duty shifts six times—all before pistols were issued the firemen. Feaster did not indicate that Lybarger had been performing his duty as a fireman unsatisfactorily except in connection with refusing to wear a pistol.

Army Veteran

Lybarger, 30, is married and the father of three children. He attends the Assembly of God Church. He said he served in the Army in 1944-45 and carried a gun during basic training.

"If my country would call me back into service," he declared, "I would go and use a gun if necessary—I'm not a conscientious objector." But he added he does not drink, smoke nor curse, and that he feels it should not be necessary to carry a pistol to be a fireman.

"I was hired to fight fires, and I was proud of being a fireman. If I had wanted to carry a gun I would have joined the Police Department," he said.

Planning To Resign

Lybarger said he was planning to resign about the middle of April due to the low pay in the Fire Department. He planned to take over his father's house moving business, and will now do so.

Lybarger said he may ask the City Personnel Board, which on request reviews cases of discharged city employees, to look into his case. Although he said he would not return to his job as a fireman, he added that he believed the board should decide whether refusing to carry a pistol is grounds for dismissal.

The board is composed of three Lincoln men: E. Glenn Callen, William Stoner Sr. and Willard Townsend.

State To Have Clouds, No Rain

Nebraska is expected to be warmer Friday but no precipitation is in sight, although the forecast calls for considerable cloudiness.

High temperatures were expected to be in the 40's, following Thursday highs ranging from 35 at Lincoln down to 24 at Sidney. Skies were to be partly cloudy through Friday night and Saturday. The Weather Bureau said.

Light snow at Lincoln, Omaha, Kearney, Grand Island, North Platte, Sidney, Scottsbluff and Norfolk on Thursday brought only traces of precipitation.

'FANTASTIC,' SCHRUNK TELLS REPORTERS

Portland Mayor Denies 'Bribery'

Terry Schrunk Says Story Of Taking $500 Payoff As Sheriff A 'Frame'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mayor Terry Schrunk of Portland, Ore., was accused at a Senate hearing Thursday of having accepted a $500 bribe while sheriff of Multnomah County. Schrunk called the story "fantastic."

Following his accusers before the Special Senate Rackets Committee, the mayor declared: "I am astounded and amazed at a committee of the United States Senate being used — without the knowledge of you gentlemen — for a political purpose such as this."

Big Jim Elkins, ex-king of Portland's underworld, had testified shortly before that a fellow gambler told him he slipped the $500 to Schrunk Sept. 11, 1955, to call off a raid on a craps and blackjack parlor.

Beside Pole

Two Portland policemen and another witness said they saw Schrunk pick up a package or envelope the gambler had placed beside a telephone pole outside the gambling place.

Elkins swore he got his information from Clifford (Jimmy) Bennett his partner in a Portland gambling joint called the 8212 Club.

When Bennett was called upon to testify about the alleged bribe he gave his name, said he now lived in Great Falls, Mont., and then refused to answer any other questions.

The committee promptly voted to cite him for contempt of Congress.

Schrunk was denying Elkins' story even before he reached the witness chair. He told reporters he was being "framed" and offered to submit to a lie detector test. "They may ruin me politically but they will never destroy what I stand for," he said.

The mayor was a trim figure in a neat dark blue suit. There was a tiny red silk rose in his lapel because, he explained, "Portland is the rose city."

When it became his turn to testify, Schrunk said Elkins at one time "had controlled vice" in Portland and that Elkins also had controlled some persons in the Police Department and, "I'm unhappy to say, in the sheriff's." Portland is the county seat of Multnomah County.

Special bus service will be provided from 13th and O at 10 and 10:15 a.m. for the services at First-Plymouth Congregational Church.

AG TRUCE IS SOUGHT

Democrats Invite Republicans To Confer With Them

WASHINGTON (AP) — After two days of hot partisan debate and flareups, the House Thursday killed a Republican farm bill to aid corn growers. It then quit until next Tuesday for a cooling off period.

House farm leaders indicated they would seek a truce over the week - end in the bitter political fighting which has developed over rival proposals for new corn and feed grain subsidies.

Rep. Poage (D-Tex.), acting chairman of the Agriculture committee, invited Republican committee members to meet with the Democrats Friday. Chairman Cooley (D-NC) had announced earlier he would consider GOP suggestions for revising pending Democratic proposals.

When the House adjourned late Thursday it had pending before it a second Republican proposal, by Rep. Harrison (R-Neb.), on which the House suspended action until Tuesday.

Rejected, 187 to 180

The day's floor battle, marked by charges and counter charges of politics, came to a head when the House defeated a Republican-backed corn bill by a vote of 187-180.

This bill, by Rep. August Andresen (R-Minn.), would have set a new national corn allotment of 51 million acres and assured corn farmers a minimum price support of 75 per cent of parity. Parity is a price deemed fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

It would also have entitled corn growers in the commercial corn growing area to soil bank benefits for placing 15 per cent of their corn acreage or other tillable land in the soil bank reserve.

Before the house voted down the Andresen bill, it added to it a provision which would have given soil bank subsidies for feed grains to corn farmers even if they did not comply with acreage controls.

Amendment Beaten

This amendment, which went down to defeat with the Andresen proposal, was offered by Rep. Carl Anderson (R-Minn.) and was approved by a 161-159 vote.

The House defeated 172-168 over an amendment by Rep. McGovern (R-SD) to support at 90 per cent of parity the price of virtually every farm commodity from wheat and cotton to eggs and calves.

Under the administration's flexible support program, only the major "basic" crops — cotton, wheat, corn, rice, peanuts and tobacco — now have price support floors under them and none at a mandatory 90 per cent.

All of the votes were teller or standing votes in which individual positions were not recorded.

The Harrison substitute would allow farmers to either grow 37-

300,000 acres of corn at a $1.36 per bushel price support, or 51 million acres at $1.31 price support. Participation in the soil bank would be voluntary under the first choice, but if the farmer grew under the 51-million acre limit, he would have to put 15 per cent of his crop land in the acreage reserve.

25 Atom Bombers Fly Home

TRAVIS AFB, Calif. (AP) — Twenty-five giant B-36 inter-continental bombers returned to the United States from the Far East Thursday — part of a far-ranging training mission shrugged off by the Strategic Air Command as old hat.

Other SAC bombers including the swift swooping B-47 jets, landed at other bases. The mission began last Thursday.

Col. Lucian N. Powell, commander of the Fifth Bomb Wing of the 15th Air Force, and other officers stressed that SAC regarded the exercises as strictly routine.

"It was similar to operations SAC has carried out in the past in Europe, North Africa and other parts of the world," he said.

The 10-engined B-36s — each of which can pack a nuclear bomb wallop for a non-stop distance of 10,000 miles — were accompanied by an undisclosed number of other bombers.

Some other B-36s continued on a 9,000-mile nonstop flight to their home base in Roswell, N. M.

The maneuvers were part of SAC's policy of keeping its combat units on a constantly-ready basis for striking in any part of the world — if necessary. The Oriental starting point is reliably reported to have been located in Japan.

A member of Vine Congregational Church in Lincoln, he also belonged to East Lincoln Lodge 250, AF&M, Scottish Rite and Sessoris Temple of the Shrine.

Mr. Nelsen also was a member of the Lincoln Elks Lodge, Chamber of Commerce, Manufacturers Assn., Knights of Pythias and Kiwanis and was a past senior councilor of the United Commercial Travelers of America.

3 BURGLARIES IN LANCASTER INVESTIGATED

Lancaster County sheriff deputies Thursday were investigating overnight burglaries of three county taverns in which coin-operated machines were looted.

Approximately $80 in dimes and quarters were reported taken from Little Bohemia Tavern at 27th and Cornhusker Highway.

Freddie's Tavern at 2648 No. 14th had $35 reportedly taken from a music box and bowling machine. Two coin machines in the Highway Tavern at 300 West P were broken open, but the owner estimated that only a few dollars in change were obtained.

Deputies said the method of gaining entry by breaking the glass in doors and forcing the machines open with a screw driver was the same in all three break-ins.

Last Saturday Ronald Huenick, 16-year-old Holland youth, was beaten and forced to run across a field at gunpoint when four youths stopped his pickup truck in a similar manner.

Paul Singleton of Raymond reported four youths attempted to stop him last Sunday night eight miles north of Lincoln.

Last Friday, Clarence Wesser of Lincoln was pulled from his car by youths at a Lincoln intersection.

Noble told deputies the youths were bareheaded and wore dark jackets. He described the car as a 1950 model.

Fire Trucks May Get Radio Equipment

Civil Defense Group Okays Proposed Plan

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

All fire-fighting units of the Lincoln Fire Department may soon be radio-equipped.

Mobile communications equipment for 13 fire units (plus a spare set) costing approximately $5,400 has been proposed under a plan approved by the Lincoln-Lancaster County Civil Defense advisory committee.

The equipment's cost would be shared by federal funds and a contribution by the Lincoln Association of Fire and Casualty Agents.

Only three cars for the department and battalion chiefs are presently equipped with radio.

The radio equipment would enable Lincoln to make more efficient use of its fire-fighting equipment, which is adequate, according to a spokesman for the fire underwriters.

Would Aid Shifting

Fire equipment could be readily shifted from one part of the city to another in emergencies and in training while in constant communication with headquarters as well as other units, he said. "It means added fire protection for the city."

CD Director Dick Vestecka said the plan is being submitted through federal channels for approval and matching funds.

The radio equipment will be part of civil defense preparedness for the city and county, Vestecka said.

The advisory committee has also approved a pilot mass feeding course to be sponsored in joint cooperation with the Red Cross.

Mass Demonstration

The 15-hour course is to be climaxed with a mass feeding demonstration at Union College in connection with a "bomb drop" planned for April 11.

The following appointments to the civil defense staff were made:

Dr. Wayne K. Tice as medical officer, replacing Dr. Wilbur Wiedman who becomes deputy medical officer.

Robert Mills of 640 No. 48th as acquisitions record officer of supply service.

David Wing of 1101 No. 67th, as supply director for red zone, and Gaylord Blanc of 1202 Washington for orange zone.

Omahan Appears On Drug Charge, Stamp Violation

OMAHA (AP) — Milton Howard, 38, Omaha, was arraigned before U.S. Commissioner A. Z. Donto Thursday on charges of sale, possession and transportation of narcotics and a tax stamp violation.

Howard was arrested during a series of raids by Omaha police and federal narcotics agents. Eight other men, arrested after Howard, were questioned by police, but police said there probably would be no federal charges against them.

Howard's bond was set at $5,000 and preliminary hearing was scheduled for March 18.

Joseph Winberg, federal narcotics agent, said Howard's arrest followed investigation of more than a year.

Morals squad members arrested seven men in a raid at a smoke shop and picked up an eighth later.

—Mid-East Resolution—

House Votes Yes On Red Warning

... Legislation Sent To White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House wrapped up President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution in a 350-60 roll call vote of approval Thursday and sent it to the White House.

The House action was swift, short-cutting usual procedures. The vote was on whether to agree to the Senate version of this resolution, which warns the Communists against aggression in the Middle East.

Eisenhower had already called the Senate language agreeable to him, and he said Thursday "I was definitely pleased" at the 72-19 vote of approval recorded by the Senate.

Armed Forces Ready

The Senate version, which is now that of the whole Congress, says

The Nebraska delegation split its vote 3 to 1 as the House accepted Senate amendments to the Middle East resolution and sent the measure to the President. Rep. Cunningham, Harrison and Weaver voted with the majority. Rep. Miller voted against. All are Republicans.

that if the President considers it necessary, "the United States is prepared" to use armed forces to protect any Middle Eastern nations requesting assistance against overt Communist aggression.

The House version, approved 355-61 on Jan. 30, would have "authorized" the President to use troops if the need arose.

In addition to setting up the warning, the resolution grants Eisenhower leeway in spending 200 million dollars in military and economic aid in the Middle East region between now and July 1.

120 In County Get Summons For Jury Duty

The Lancaster District Court has called a two-week jury session beginning March 18.

10 Lost As Freighter, Tanker Hit

... In Delaware River

NEW CASTLE, Del. (AP) — A freighter and a navy-owned tanker slammed together early Thursday at the "graveyard" bend of the Delaware River, setting off an explosion that ripped a 100-foot hole in the fuel-carrier.

Ten men on the tanker were missing and feared dead.

Thirty-five others were rescued as were all 23 aboard the S.S. Elma II. Fifteen of the rescued—some pulled from the flaming oil-slick — required hospital treatment. Others were ministered to by rescuers. None was reported in serious condition.

The impact of the explosion, felt 30 miles away, sent the tanker Mission San Francisco to the bottom in shallow water. Its bow and stern superstructures, which burned fiercely for more than 16 hours, protruded from the water. The Elma was able to back off but drifted out of control for several hours before it ran aground, the bow burned and damaged.

Neither ship was carrying cargo. Capt. Alexander Kaare of the Elma said "we rammed into the starboard (right) bow of the tanker at about 12:25 a.m. I don't know what happened immediately after that because I was knocked unconscious."

Israelis Rally

China Frees Missionary

HONG KONG (AP) — An American Lutheran missionary, the Rev. Paul J. Mackensen, was released from a Chinese Communist prison in Shanghai Thursday after serving a five-year term for "acts threatening security," Peiping radio reported.

The Red broadcast did not state whether he would stay in China or be sent home immediately. His home is in Baltimore.

Reports reaching Hong Kong said he hoped to remain in Red China after his release.

Lutheran church officials here said they had no information on the Rev. Mr. Mackensen's future.

NFO To Organize All State Counties By June—Ryder

National Farmers Organization representatives from the Nebraska First Congressional District heard a report on organizing membership recruitment from NFO organizer, Bill Ryner.

Ryner told the 12 representatives of county NFO groups Thursday that he expected that every county in the state would be organized by June.

The NFO state organization is participating in a membership drive to recruit 9,000 or more members. National goal is 300,000.

District representatives, meeting in Lincoln, also heard a report by NFO Lobbyist Pearl Finigan. Finigan, who also is president of the Lancaster County group, told delegates he believed state legislation affecting farmers was "progressing well."

Finigan reported on his appearance before a legislative committee considering the grain tax amendment. He was also instructed by the group that the NFO is against bills now before the Legislature pertaining to sale and labeling of milk.

Five police cruiser cars and four motorcycle officers took part Thursday afternoon in what at first was believed to be a "manhunt" for three Lincoln Air Force Base airmen who had escaped from the Base stockade Tuesday.

But it turned out the three youths, who had fled on foot, when approached by a motorcycle officer near 37th and O, were just teenagers who feared being arrested for hitchhiking rides.

AEC Sets Price For Taking 'Ashes' From Atomic Fuel

WASHINGTON (INS)—A major stumbling block to peacetime atomic power was hurdled Thursday when the Atomic Energy Commission announced the government can now establish firm prices for removing "ashes" from nuclear fuel.

The price will amount to something more than $1,000 a pound. Since, however, one pound of nuclear fuel is the power-producing equivalent of 360,000 gallons of oil, the charge will be a small part of the total cost of generating electricity from the atom.

The program involves construction by the government of a chemical plant costing $20,570,000, and capable of processing 14 pounds of nuclear fuel a day to remove impurities (ashes). Such impurities slow down the chain reaction in partly-consumed nuclear fuel, after operations that may extend over months or even years.

The cost of operating the plant was calculated at $15,300 a day. Thus, the expense to the government of processing the fuel will be just under $1,100 a pound.

On this basis, the commission announced that it is prepared to enter into "firm contracts" with private builders of nuclear power plants to establish processing charges in each case. The final fees will include some additional charges, presumably small, for handling, casting and for losses of fuel in the processing.

Photo-Journalism Open House Set For Nebraska U

In conjunction with the open house, the traveling salon from Popular Photography magazine will be on display, continuing through March 15.

Speaks A Language All Its Own!

Take a good look at this gentleman as he strides out to his waiting car.

You probably feel—as we do—that you know a number of things about him.

First of all, we would be willing to venture that he is a man who holds to high standards of achievement... and that he occupies a substantial position in his own area of endeavor.

We would guess that he is held in high personal esteem by his friends and associates.

And we would also suppose that he is a practical man who is keenly aware of the basic worth of the things around him.

The reason for all this is not far to seek.

For the motor car that awaits him at the curbside bears the beautiful crest of Cadillac. And here, beyond conjecture, is the most eloquent spokesman in all the realm of possessions.

In fact, the Cadillac car has been so closely associated with the leading citizenry of our land that the two have become all but inseparable in the public mind.

And just as these motorists have placed their trust in Cadillac, so Cadillac has, in return, given them everything that they could ever hope for in an automobile.

Cadillac has given them unduplicated beauty and luxury... unsurpassed performance and comfort and ease of handling... and extraordinary quality.

Committee Approves One-Cent Increase In Cigarette Tax

Senators Also OK Business Inventory Bill

A legislative committee Thursday advanced to general file bills to raise the state cigarette tax by one cent and to require businesses to attach copies of their federal inventories to state business schedules.

Both measures were introduced by Sen. Terry Carpenter. The Revenue Committee approved 6-0 the business inventory measure, LB 359, considered one of the "hotter" bits of pending legislation.

The other bill, approved 5-0, was LB 130, which would raise cigarette taxes from three to four cents a package. The measure was unopposed at a public hearing earlier.

Also advanced to the floor, on a 5-1 vote, was LB 476, which revises the method of taxing trusts which fund a pension, profit-sharing or other employee benefit plan.

Under LB 476, introduced by Sen. William Moulton, such trusts would be taxed at the rate of two per cent of the gross income they yield. A present a mill levy is assessed against the interests.

A committee move to vote LB 241, a bill to raise liquor taxes, to the floor drew only two supporters of the six members present. There was no motion to kill that bill.

An attempt to kill LB 134, the sales-income tax bill, was backed with two votes. Four votes in the committee are needed to determine the disposition of the bills, one way or another.

Legislators To Discuss Deer Problem ... With Ranchers

State Senators LeRoy Bahensky and Monroe Bixler plan to go to Harrison Friday for a courthouse meeting on the possibility of reducing the large number of deer in Sioux County.

The two said Sen. Arnold Ruhnke also might attend.

Sioux County ranchers, saying that herds of 100 deer and antelope are common and some herds number as high as 300, complained about damage to dwindling alfalfa supplies and trampling of dry wheat fields.

To Explain

The legislators are going to the Harrison meeting "to explain to the ranchers what the Legislature is doing to help them," Sen. Bahensky said.

He referred specifically to LB 43, passed by the Legislature and waiting the governor's signature.

The measure, introduced by Senators George Syas, Bahensky, Frank Nelson, Norman Otto and Mervin Bedford, removes the three-year restriction on eligibility for deer and antelope hunting permits.

Into Wyoming

Sen. Bahensky said that under current laws some hunters, instead of waiting three years for a new permit, cross over into Wyoming—a few hours away—and buy a permit to hunt immediately in that state.

"It drew many hunters out of western Nebraska into Wyoming," the senator said.

A Knock Out

KANSAS CITY (INS)—Stan Bond, 34, of Plymouth, England, gave a "knock out" performance in his initial United States appearance.

Attorneys File Reply Brief For Parker

... In Murder Appeal

Attorneys for Darrel Parker, convicted of the first degree murder of his wife, Thursday filed a reply brief with the State Supreme Court, charging error in District Court proceedings in which he was found guilty.

Parker, former Lincoln forester, was sentenced to life imprisonment in the State Penitentiary.

The brief his attorneys filed says the court was in error when it refused Parker's attorneys access to the contents of Nancy Parker's stomach. The contents were used by the state as part of its evidence for establishing the time of her death.

Also mentioned in the appeal are his signed confession admitted in evidence and the type of knots used to tie Nancy Parker's hands.

She was found murdered in their Antelope Park home in December, 1935, and her husband was convicted in May, 1936.

At the Penitentiary, Parker was clerk-secretary to the chaplain for a time and now is working on the care of trees and shrubs on the grounds.

In this work Parker is using his knowledge of forestry "for the betterment of our institution," Warden Joseph Bovey commented.

Gustafson's Advice

Former Nebraska Chancellor R. G. Gustafson, now president of Resources for the Future, has suggested that the study of biology in high school be shifted from the tenth to twelfth grade while earlier years be supplied by studies in physics and chemistry. Such a re-ordering, he believes, will better equip the student in his preparation for life. He had specifically in mind a better armed attack on the disease of cancer.

On the surface his comment has the earmarks of a suggestion made by an educator to other educators, a matter of rearranging studies for better results. But actually it goes deeper than that. In the first place it presumes that high school students are all receiving instruction in physics, chemistry and biology. Many are not being taught any of the three subjects. One can ask, where do we go from there?

The former chancellor is on sound ground when he suggests rearrangement of studies in terms of background learning and the maturity of mind. The individual's volume of residual learning no doubt could be increased by timely teaching.

But the deeper part of the problems is that today's demand for individual know-how is vastly greater and more varied than 50 or 100 years ago, yet there are the same number of hours of the student's day and the same number of years of childhood and earlier maturity. Additional school structures, a greater teaching force and improved equipment may soften the problem, but it remains a fact that the better education we are all thinking about must perforce require a great deal more work and a great deal more learning about a great deal more things on the part of the student himself. It may take some of the joy out of school. It may lead to a sober-sided oncoming generation, but true education from now on is going to be just plain hard work and lots of it.

Resourcefulness Needed

There is mounting evidence of congressional disfavor for base broadening and heavier financing of the Benson soil bank program and an increasing number of observers are beginning to predict little if any farm legislation during the current session.

That is not lifting news to the working farmers for their problems continue. Divided congressional opinion and small remedial action means a delayed cure.

Unquestionably large sums and broad participation are essential if the soil bank program is to achieve its dual goal of controlling production while affording anything like a secure agricultural operation base. It is always expensive to hire inactivity.

But the realistic cost of a soil bank program should have been calculated realistically at the outset. If even at this later date the program reveals impracticalities it had best be shelved in favor of something newer and more constructive.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Not to take issue with a national idol in a discussion of drought programs, obviously the President seems unaware of the fact that the individual states and their farm peoples pay and pay through the nose when hit by drought. President Eisenhower was represented in the news columns as saying that Congress will be requested to require states to pay at least a fourth, or 25 per cent, of the cost of drought programs.

If a state suffering drought is able to pay 25 per cent of the cost of the program designed to relieve its drought-stricken farmers, well and good. Then they can point to a shining example of rugged individualism so dear to the heart of Herbert Hoover and scarcely less dear, it would appear, to Ike. He can look beyond the seas and come to the conclusion that the American people should spend billions, not millions, for foreign relief to help nations and peoples unable to help themselves. But all the compassion President Eisenhower seems to have for the drought-stricken farmer and drought-stricken states is the advice that they in the states should shift for themselves. Sen. Karl Vogel of Omaha, chairman of the legislative appropriation committee, said it and said it all in very few words when he was quoted in the news columns as expressing the opinion that it would be difficult for the state to raise the sizeable sum which would be needed. "It looks like they are asking fellows down and out to get up and take care of themselves," Sen. Vogel added. Of course, in a practical everyday world that is exactly the position of the Eisenhower administration. The more responsibility it can shift, particularly financially, the more the people of the states either will go without or dig into their own pockets. Unfortunately this job of relief—flood, drought and other developments affecting thousands of people—may be just a little bit too big at times for the local and state governments.

Gov. Anderson knows this, or he should know it. We were just a little bit surprised to read in the news columns that he thought the state had a responsibility and that we shouldn't always run to the federal government for help. That is true but is that applicable today? He was back in Washington, hands out, asking for help only a few days ago. He and Hruska and Curtis paid a visit to Eisenhower to talk over the drought situation, so they told reporters in the national capital. Finally, if the governor thinks this state has a responsibility in combating effects of the drought that swept its farming regions in the growing season of 1956, a responsibility that it is not now meeting, then why didn't he say so to the people of Nebraska and why didn't he recommend to the Legislature a fixed sum of money to be appropriated for drought relief?

Vic Anderson, an old-time friend, if correctly quoted in the news columns on Ike's expressed views of drought, seems to have overlooked some developments. The governor asked for a "hardtack" budget. He has had a great deal to say about holding the line against any increase in taxes which is sensible. He asked agencies to haul back their budgets, refigure them in order to save money, and reduce appropriation requests. He demanded that they cut down here and there because of drought. Yet he was quoted in the news columns as saying that he thought the state had a responsibility in its drought-relief program, and that it should not always be running to Uncle Sam for help.

Gov. Anderson and a lot of other people will wish they could eat those words if this drought continues in any measure through the growing season of 1957. If we get enough moisture and produce reasonably abundant crops next summer, well and good. If we do not, there will be a whole of a lot of Nebraskans much more disenchanted with Ike and his man, Benson, than there are today.

Budget Shaped By Drought

It cannot be gainsaid that the program attempts to treat too much with the immediate production problem and hardly at all with the underlying imbalances that are afflicting agriculture. When its money is spent, it is gone. When the time it has used up is over that, too, is gone. And there is little if anything emerging from all of that which will lead the way to a new level of agricultural life. A nation is prone to spend if there is sufficient promise in any course of treatment that it will penetrate deeply enough to eliminate causes.

It can be said of the earlier farm program projected in the depression-ridden '30's that it embodied resourceful departures that lifted agriculture from an unsatisfactory level to a new higher level—one which brought better measures of living through conservation, rural electrification, advanced farming methods and better fitted credit and market structures. The current condition most urgently calls for a new application of resourcefulness to meet the need of another upward surge.

has been too much talk, it seems to us, of the concern of oil giants for rights in that section of the world for the peace of mind of American people.

We do not like to believe that the flag follows a gusher.

But there ought to be a better reason for opposing the Eisenhower doctrine than the one propounded by Georgia's Sen. Russell. The Omaha World-Herald in a bitter editorial on Senate approval of Middle Eastern aid authority to the tune of $200 million quotes Sen. Russell to the effect that this sum is only the beginning, the down payment on a program that will cost billions. Is this the fact? Who is back of this program and why? Why has this program been so dear to the heart of the administration? Why have Dulles and Eisenhower applied all the heat at their command to convince Congress and particularly to persuade the United States Senate that the President must have authorization to spend $200 million for aid to Middle East peoples, or they in turn will come under the influence of Moscow?

Then the Herald quotes Russell to the effect that we cannot bring down spending for domestic purposes, we cannot level it off so long as we increase our foreign aid program. Is the real reason for decreasing the foreign aid program a desire to decrease spending for domestic purposes? What kind of nonsense are we asked to believe? Only two days ago the President was reported as saying that the individual states should assume at least 25 per cent of the cost of drought-aid programs, and that people should quit running to Washington for handouts. Where is the relation between the two? Finally Sen. Russell said senatorial mail contained hundreds of letters favoring an increase in old-age assistance payments for Grandma. "Don't you think she is as much entitled to it as all those foreign countries for which you are voting billions of dollars?" Or are we to understand that recognition of Grandma's needs for ten dollars more a month rests upon something that has nothing whatsoever to do with her real needs?

It has been the policy of this administration to seek more and more for foreign aid without taking the American people fully into its confidence as to developments abroad. It has had a slogan of peace while asking for billions for foreign aid and for defense purposes. A presidential commission earlier in the week reported that foreign aid expenditures will have to continue, possibly for years. Are they to be continued indefinitely at a continuing sacrifice of the American people? It seems to us this is at least a fair question. It is not the question Russell was reported to have asked.

The world this week greeted its newest nation — Ghana.

It is roughly the size of Arkansas and Missouri in terms of population and it occupies the portion of Africa long known as the British Gold Coast.

One does not expect that Ghana will change overnight now that sovereignty has been granted. The new nation has formidable tasks ahead. But it has a world of well wishers.

Small Business Again Ignored

WASHINGTON — The Democrats made a big hurrah about helping small business during the recent election campaign. Now, however, they are coming up with a nice fat zero.

The Republicans, it's true, also made a lot of noise about helping small business, and Sherman Adams told the Smaller Business Association of New England that tax relief definitely would be forthcoming if Ike were re-elected. Now the administration is vigorously opposing this and all tax cuts.

However, let's see what the Democrats, who yelled the loudest, did about small business.

Very quietly, and in one single morning, the Democratic leadership rushed the existing tax bill on corporation profits through the House Ways and Means Committee, which handles taxes.

No effort was made by either party to reduce the tax on small business. No small-business witnesses were heard. The speed was such as to arouse suspicion. Afterwards, the tax bill was given a gag rule by the rules committee, which means that it cannot be amended on the floor of the House. No congressman can propose a lower tax for small business and get it voted on.

Officially, the rush was justified by the fact that the tax bill expires March 31. It contains excise taxes as well as corporate taxes, and there cannot be even one day's lapse in the machinery of collecting excise taxes.

However, here is the very significant development regarding the tax bill after it was rammed through the Ways and Means Committee. At first it was sent to the full House for action during the week of Feb. 18. Then suddenly it was withdrawn. It is now being held in abeyance until a few days before the taxes are due to expire on March 31. The reason is complicated but important. In brief, it smacks of oil.

In capitol cloakrooms it's admitted the House Democratic leadership is fearful that the Senate will pass a reduction of the 27½ per cent oil depletion allowance. This is the big tax bonanza which permits oil men to have the most favored tax position in the U.S.A.; and, incidentally, also permits them to throw all kinds of money into election campaigns.

Seldom has public opinion been so irate against the oil companies as right now. So Democratic leaders, one of them coming from oil-rich Texas, another from oil-rich Oklahoma, have held up the tax bill. They know the Senate is always slow.

Therefore, House leaders intend to pass the tax bill at the last minute, then send it to the Senate. In the few hours or days before March 31 they know the Senate won't have time to add any amendments hurting oil.

Note—Speaker Sam Rayburn has pushed more legislation through the House favoring humanitarian causes than any single living American. So he can be forgiven for bowing three times in the direction of oil when oil legislation peeks even remotely over the edge of the capitol dome. After all, he's from Texas. Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma is a Democratic whip.

Meanwhile, Sen. Bill Fulbright, Democrat of Arkansas, is carrying out the Democratic platform by offering an amendment reducing taxes on small corporations and increasing them slightly on giant firms, such as General Motors, which dominate the American economy. This, he contends, would get around the White House argument that the Treasury can't afford loss of tax revenue.

Thirty-two senators are supporting Fulbright's amendment. But he can't get Sen. Harry Byrd, of Virginia, biggest apple grower in the world and no friend of small business, even to hold hearings. Byrd is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, and he has ignored all of Fulbright's requests for hearings.

Ike's Health Is Again Worrisome

WASHINGTON — For reasons not clearly apparent, President Eisenhower late Wednesday was still refusing to take the vacation this capital believes he really needs. The President acknowledged in his telecast on the Middle East crisis that a cough was bothering him. He apologized for it in advance, though it did not appear then.

He has had this cough since inauguration day on January 21, which was cold and windy. The doctors at Walter Reed Hospital have checked him thoroughly and find no chest or lung problem. It is now ascribed to tracheitis. Because there was so much discussion of it, the White House found it necessary to deny that it was the so-called cardiac cough to which heart patients are sometimes prone.

But there is more to the story than the cough. The press held its first conference in some weeks with the President, but his callers—private and congressional—had privately confessed their misgivings about his appearance. He did not attend the gridiron dinner last week-end and his calling list has been noticeably brief.

The President received with Mrs. Eisenhower Tuesday night at the big congressional reception, the closing social event of the White House season. But the women reporters who seldom see him thought he had changed; they put it that he seemed tired and finely drawn. Several experienced almost a sense of relief when he left the receiving line.

The President may feel self-conscious about a vacation now because he has two trips to milder climates coming up soon. He will fly to Bermuda March 20 for a four-day conference with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. On April 8 he goes again to his favorite vacation spot, the Augusta Golf Club, where he is really isolated from presidential pressures.

The last Eisenhower vacation was not an entire success. His host, Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey, has a delightful shooting place, Milestone Plantation in south Georgia, but Humphrey had no control over the Egypt-Israel crisis which kept the telephone ringing and visitors coming. Then the ground was dry and the President found the dust irritated his throat.

The extraordinary mobility of the President's face makes speculation about his appearance a gamble. He can look like death warmed over on one day and the next day seem to be in the pink. This time however, a vacation seems clearly warranted.

Optimism Over Mid-East Rising

WASHINGTON — With the adoption of the Eisenhower resolution on the Middle East an accomplished fact and the Israelis on their way out of the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba area, a note of cautious optimism — so cautious that for practical reasons it is being kept sternly under cover — can be detected in the harassed State Department.

This has been reflected in the lengthy discussions leading to final agreement between Britain, France and the United States on the reply to the Russian note of February 11 proposing a four-power conference on the Middle East.

From the first it was evident the Soviet note was a propaganda blast. But the British did not want it to seem that the three western powers rejected the proposal out of hand. They argued that this would give Moscow a propaganda advantage.

Their concern was to answer the issues raised in the note with a desire to negotiate but to point out at the same time Soviet words and deeds that had gone directly counter to Soviet professions of a hands-off attitude in the Middle East. It has finally been agreed, however, that while the three powers will not send identical notes they will all summarily reject the Moscow proposal.

The demands made on him have been so pressing that only yesterday was Secretary of State John Foster Dulles able to take time to approve a final draft of the American reply. It now has been sent off to Paris to be circulated among the North Atlantic powers before it is cabled to Moscow and made public.

Both London and Washington have been careful to circulate earlier drafts in the Baghdad pact capitals, and there has been general satisfaction in Iran, Iraq and Turkey at the Western position.

In analyzing the Russian note and in framing a reply to it, diplomats of the three powers were agreed that it was a result of the Eisenhower resolution. While Moscow may not be quite clear as to the significance of the resolution, it nevertheless seems to the Soviets to mean the direct participation of the United States in the politics of the Middle East, and this is something new—and deeply disturbing.

That was the consensus of the specialists drafting the western reply. The Soviet arms deal, the violent Soviet reaction to the British-French-Israeli invasion of Egypt last November and the Soviet penetration of both Egypt and Syria have activated the United States in an area where hitherto it was only a secondary power. ## John, The Apostle

"When Jesus therefore saw his mother, and the disciple standing by, whom he loved, he saith unto his mother, Woman, behold thy son!"

—John XIX:26

It was while there, apocryphal accounts say, that he was given the visions of the last days, part of which he wrote down in his Book of the Revelation.

It is conjectured that he lived to an extreme old age, the dates of his death having been set variously from A.D. 89 to A.D. 120.

Their Own Thinking

Nebraska City, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: This is to reply to "Also Tax Tired" who had a letter in this column on March 4.

He predicted that "Tax Tired" was a Farm Bureau member sitting around reading the Farm Journal, the Reader's Digest and Charles Shuman's propaganda. He could never be so wrong. Never in our lives (and we're no spring chickens) have we ever seen a copy of the Farm Journal, and we've never heard of Charles Shuman — who is he? We have never attended a political meeting of any kind. We listen to politicians on radio and television and read about them. We have never been so fortunate and blessed ever to own one foot of farm land.

We, like millions of other taxpayers, live in town, work for wages, then try to live on those wages. Our employer deducts Uncle Sam's cut and we never see that money. We have no way of evading our taxes. We belong to no organized unions or special interest groups to protect our interests. We have no specialized schemers to scheme ways to tax money back into our pockets. We have to take anything that is dished out, but we don't have to like it.

If 60 per cent of the property tax in Nebraska is assessed against farm property, certainly then they must own it and should be forced by law to pay every penny of it. If a farmer signs up for the soil bank in good faith, he should be forced to respect that law and not try to change the rules to suit his own interests before the ink is dry on his signature. Furthermore, as he tends his soil bank acres, he is protecting his own land. Even if he goes to the expense of seeding it, he still protects it from erosion and blowing, and he shouldn't be allowed to turn even a chicken loose on it.

For "Also Tax Tired's" information, we read many good newspapers and magazines regularly. We know all about the give-aways to special interest groups and the give-aways abroad. We read dozens of conflicting viewpoints and form our own opinions. In other words, we do our own thinking!

Our favorite newspaper is The Lincoln Star, and our favorite politician is former President Harry S. Truman. Does that look as if we're steeped in Republicanism?

Urban Renewal

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Last Wednesday afternoon LB 431 was given a hearing before the committee on government of the Legislature. The room where the hearing was held proved hard to find. Some of the visitors arrived late and out of breath, some did not arrive. Even so, the room was crowded, the lighting ghostly, and the ventilation abominable. There was no loud-speaker and some of the speeches did not carry past the first row of chairs.

All those who were for urban renewal were asked to stand. The chairman forgot to ask those opposing to stand, so the sitting ducks sat. The pro's were given all the time they wanted for speaking; the anti's were asked to cut their speeches short. The pro's were given a rebuttal; the anti's, none.

Urban renewal was presented in glowing terms by able speakers. A prosperous-looking delegation from Omaha told how beautifully the plan is working in that city and how they crave the same benefits for their sister city of Lincoln. No humble Omaha citizen came with the delegation to tell how he loves to live under an authority that has power to appropriate his property and pay him whatever price seems reasonable. No small business man appeared to testify how easy it was to find himself a new home and a new place of business when the authority decided to turn his location into a park. No elderly person told how much better his new house seems than the one he built and has enjoyed for 50 years.

One speaker for the opposition presented a map of Lincoln showing the areas that the study of Harland Bartholomew and Associates designated as "blighted." This map produced some consternation among the visitors, for the study of the St. Louis firm is known to be the basis of action on urban renewal in Lincoln. But the rebuttal assured us that no dependence should be placed on that map. An opposition speaker pointed out that LB 431 is written in such a manner as to make it unconstitutional — but he was asked to sit down. A pro advised that under some circumstances the government would pay the entire cost of urban renewal. The rebuttal spoke feelingly of "the mass of misinformation" that had been presented. One robust son of pioneer stock said, "This bill is as dead as Hector; and if you are looking for a tough guy, look at me!"

At this writing we haven't heard what action the legislative committee has taken or will take. But, all in all, we had quite a hearing.

Washington Handouts

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: President Eisenhower sent a message to Congress dealing with disasters that happen to people in all walks of life. He said that the states should put up 25 per cent of the money. So maybe there won't be so many trekking down to Washington from now on.

The government wants to get out of the nonsense it has practiced for years, increasing the government debt. Right away one bureaucrat said that what the people need is government loans. If people in distress have liquid assets, they can get all the money they need at the banks.

POSTCARD

The tourist season is in full season in Taxco, Mexico. It is a pretty town of cobbled streets. Everything up and down hill.

The tourist ladies walk up in their spike heels and come skittering down precariously. Loaded and ballasted with silver.

This is the silver town. Halfway between the tourist Mecca of the Reforma in Mexico City and the elegant benches of Aca-pulco.

"It sort of gives you a chance to stop off and see how the natives really live," a tourist lady confided in me the other night at Los Arcos.

The natives live colorfully as befits natives living in a national monument. They run burros up and down the streets. And have been light measured so much they can take a look at the sky and tell you the camera setting. In English.

I find the major source of alarm in Taxco these days is pretty much like you might find at a luncheon of the Better Business Bureau.

"Some of the silver shops have formed an ethical organization," said an American resident. "But," he said sadly, "they cannot fight the guide racket."

It seems the Mexico City guides—the all-powerful boys who guide the spiked heels up and down the cobbles—cut in for 20 to 25 per cent on all sales.

"You must keep one price or you will drive the tourists away," said the ethical Americans of Tax-co.

This seemed like a good idea. Mexico goes strong for booster organizations. Outside almost every town is a listing of when the Lions Club or the Rotary hold meetings. They formed a sort of Better Business Bureau. Colorfully native but better.

But in every Eden there is a nest of serpents. There were a number of natives who did not want to remain colorful. They wanted to get rich.

They saw quite plainly that the guides were hustling the customers where the payoff was 25 per cent. They remained colorfully enough in the Better Business Bureau. But they paid a percentage, too.

"It has been a great success," said the American.

The boy with the baskets made his pitch for me on the bench under the laurels.

"Cuanto?" I said.

"Twenty-five pesos," he said in English. "Look," he said, "you can't get these kind of baskets in Toluca. You put two or three pounds in a Toluca basket, they break."

"Twenty-two. That's my best price. Look, Mister, these are the best baskets in Mexico. They are bound all the way around. Not like those cheap Toluca baskets."

"I'll go for 17. My last offer."

"Mister," he said, "I could do it for 20. But not for 17. You're an American. You understand. Don't you want me to have my commission?"

Jury Acquits Man In Fatal Beating Case

PENDER, Neb. (AP) — John Marshall Miller was acquitted by a District Court jury of a first degree murder charge filed in connection with the fatal beating of Peter George Mitchell, 44, at Macy last June 21.

Two other men were charged in connection with the death. A first degree murder charge against Henry Richard Cline was dismissed last summer and a similar charge still is pending against Louis Robinson. Robinson's case was expected to come up for disposition Friday. He remained in jail in lieu of bond.

Mitchell was found dead in Macy last summer and the three men charged were alleged to have been in a fight with him.

LEGISLATURE SENDS 8 BILLS TO GOVERNOR

Eight bills were passed on final reading by the Legislature Thursday and sent to the governor for approval.

They include:

- LB 212—Correcting a statute reference in law relating to motor vehicles. (42-01).
- LB 182—Allowing a public power and irrigation district to amend its charter to change the nature of the business in which the district is engaged. (41-01).
- LB 188—Allowing school board candidates in counties of 60,000 or more population to serve as election judges or clerks and requiring judges and clerks to sign a loyalty oath. (40-01).
- LB 95—Reducing from 20 to 12 years the time for expiration of leases on saline lands. (37-1).
- LB 187—Allowing counties of more than 30,000 population to number election ballots when more than one ballot is involved in an election. (42-01).
- LB 175—Revising school census requirements in Omaha and eliminating six-month waiting period for disability benefits for school employees. (39-01).
- LB 186—Increasing in Douglas County the pay for election judges and clerks from $1 to $1.25 an hour, and for district inspectors from $1.25 to $1.50 an hour. (38-5).
- LB 129—Requiring warehousemen to report annually to county assessors on goods held by them for others. (33-4). (Emergency clause attached).

Employment Firms Can Pay Part-Time By Hour

Employment agencies specializing in part-time and temporary help may pay their registrants on an hourly basis after the agencies receive fees from the firms they service, according to an attorney general's opinion Thursday.

The opinion, requested by Labor Commissioner James Weasmer, concerns employment agencies which charge requesting organizations a certain amount per hour for the services of a temporary employee, the amount based on the skills of the individual.

In turn, the agency pays the registrant a certain amount per hour, which amount is less per hour than the amount charged the requesting organization by the agencies.

Police Detective Gets $1,676 Settlement

Police Detective Harry M. Davis, 2749 Arlington, was awarded a $1,676.97 lump sum settlement by the City of Lincoln for June 15, 1955, injuries while on duty.

The Lancaster District Court settlement was for alleged knee and back injuries suffered when the detective jumped from a telephone pole onto the roof of a building during a burglary investigation.

Ike Wants Slowdown In Spending

... Inflamed Ear Plagues President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said Thursday he thinks government spending can be slowed down to help put the brakes on rising living costs. He said he has assigned cabinet and other officials to explore the possibility.

"With this cost of living continuing to rise," Eisenhower told a news conference, "it is necessary we all watch our spending to the utmost degree."

In addition to a cough that has hung on for weeks, the President turned up at the conference with an inflamed ear and a cold. But instead of heading for some spot such as sunny Arizona, he said he is staying on in Washington at the moment to grapple with Middle Eastern problems.

Health A Major Topic
It was Eisenhower's health that sounded the opening note of the news conference and recurred all the way through it.

The President has had a persistent cough since spending several hours outdoors on Inauguration Day Jan. 21.

Then he showed up Thursday with a cold, a husky, stuffy voice, and a wad of medicated cotton in his left ear. He coughed several times during the conference. And several times he had to ask his questioners to speak more loudly.

Presidential press Secretary James C. Hagerty reported later that the chief executive developed "a slight inflammation of the eustachian tube" Wednesday and has been under treatment by the White House physician, Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder.

Eisenhower has been thinking of

DE VALERA MAKES GOOD COMEBACK

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Eamon de Valera regained control of Parliament Thursday night in a smashing political comeback for the 74-year-old New York-born Irish patriot.

He will become prime minister for a third time amidst simmering of a new armed revolt against British rule in northern Ireland and in a time of economic stress.

But now that the nearly blind though still physically active "Dev," the last surviving commandant of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, is an advocate of peaceful negotiation as the best means of uniting the country.

The newly chosen Parliament will meet March 20 for the formal election of de Valera as prime minister—a post in which he has served for a total of 18 years. He has been on the sidelines as opposition leader for the last three years.

Progress Depends On Fine Colleges, Breckenridge Says

The existence of a progressive and prosperous people rests on flourishing educational institutions, persons attending the Nebraska Wheat Kernel Conference were told Thursday evening.

Dr. A. C. Breckenridge, dean of faculties at the University of Nebraska, said, "Retrenchment or curtailment of educational institutions is impossible if we are to keep faith with the people and carry out their dictates."

He explained that a land-grant institution, such as the University, has a wide range of responsibilities and functions. "Its functions and obligations extend throughout the entire range of the state's society. The assigned duties of the University are found in every county and its operations affect every community large or small."

BUDGET COMMITTEE ASKS REVISION OF EDUCATION DEPT. LISTINGS

The Legislature's Budget Committee met Thursday to consider Department of Education budget requests, but the committee asked the department to revise its system of listing accounts and return for hearing March 22.

Committee members took exception to the department's combining several accounts into one, which Education Commissioner Freeman Decker explained had been done in the interests of better bookkeeping.

Decker told the committee he had received permission from the tax commissioner, auditor and attorney general to combine the accounts.

But Sen. Hal Bridenbaugh and Committee Chairman Sen. Karl Vogel said they would not go along with this and asked that separate accounts be prepared.

Separate Hearings
The Budget Committee already had set a separate hearing date for two divisions under the Department of Education — vocational education and the Nebraska Trade School — for March 18.

The department has requested $2,395,601 in general fund money for the coming biennium, an increase of $209,694 over the last biennium.

The governor has recommended the department be appropriated $2,362,233 in tax funds, plus re-appropriation of $30,000 from the unexpended balance, making a total of $2,392,233.

The committee did discuss Thursday those divisions of the de-

COLERIDGE, Neb. — Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at the Methodist Church here for the Rev. E. T. Antrim, 86, of Watertown, S. D., former Methodist minister in northeast Nebraska towns.

He served Methodist churches at Coleridge, Pierce, Meadow Grove and South Sioux City. Other survivors include his wife and one son, the Rev. Edward Antrim, Methodist minister at Watertown.

ISRAELIS BLOW UP INSTALLATIONS

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli troops blew up Egyptian military works at the mouth of the Gulf of Aqaba Thursday in preparation for withdrawal Friday. Other Israeli forces completed their exit from the Gaza Strip and handed United Nations forces the burden of administering that hotly disputed area.

The company-strength unit at Sharm El Sheikh on the southwest Aqaba coast was expected to take only a few hours to vacate and U. N. troops stood by ready to fill the vacuum. Demolition teams wrecked concrete pillboxes, a munitions depot and two 6-inch gun positions which formerly closed the gulf to Israeli ships.

The Israelis did not want the Egyptians to find the fortifications intact in case U. N. occupation proves to be only temporary. Similar destruction of roads and installations was carried out by the Israelis in their long retreat out of the Sinai Desert a few weeks ago.

Tanks, gas and vehicles—much of it captured Egyptian equipment—already had been loaded aboard ships, and lighter material was flown out by planes. Finnish units of the United Nations Emergency Force (UNEF) were ready to raise the U. N. flag overlooking the narrow coral-dotted strait as soon as the Israelis pull out.

Israel's withdrawal from the 26-by-6-mile Gaza Strip on the Mediterranean coast after 125 days of occupation was swiftly completed before dawn, except for a tiny working party which did not leave until afternoon.

The departure of the victors in the October-November invasion against Egypt was without incident except for a few unexplained gunshots. The 300,000 residents, including some 200,000 Israeli-hating Arab refugees from Palestine, were under curfew. Only a handful defied the orders to stay indoors and greeted the changeover with shouts of "Long live Nasser, long live Nehru, long live Arab unity, down with the imperialists."

Dag Pleased
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld Thursday expressed satisfaction with the progress of the U. N. Emergency Force movement into the Gaza Strip and with preparations to take over the Sharm El Sheikh area.

This was reported authoritatively after a meeting of the seven-nation advisory committee on UNEF with Hammarskjöld. The secretary-general is expected to state his satisfaction in a three-paragraph report to the Assembly Friday.

Most of the delegates of the 80-nation assembly are hoping they can recess indefinitely sometime Friday. The plan is for the Assembly to come back, if necessary, at the call of the president, Prince Wan Waithayakon of Thailand, after he consults with the steering committee made up of the eight vice presidents and seven main committee chairmen.

U.S. Protests Politely Red Scare Tactics At American Legation In Budapest

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Thursday demanded, but with unusual politeness, that Communist Hungary stop trying to frighten visitors away from the U.S. Legation in Budapest.

It said Hungarian police have been doing this by questioning all callers and arresting some of them as they left the Legation.

The American protest against police "interference" with U.S. diplomatic rights in the Hungarian capital followed similar protests made in the last few days by Britain, France and Austria.

Officials reported Thursday night that apparently as a result of these other complaints the situation has already improved. Communist police have virtually given up "harrassment" of visitors to the Legation office they said, and the hope now is that the Hungarians will abandon the tactic altogether.

For this reason, the United States couched its protest in polite language than would otherwise have been used.

Officials said police activity around the Legation reached its height last week with the result that only about two Hungarian citizens in an afternoon would call at the office instead of the usual eight or ten.

Quizzed

The State Department said that during the worst of the police surveillance, every visitor was questioned when he left the Legation and some were placed under arrest. The number taken into custody was not known here.

Police surveillance of Hungarians entering and leaving the Legation chancery is "apparently designed to intimidate and discourage Hungarian citizens from conducting normal and customary business with the Legation," the U.S. said in a note.

The note was delivered to the Hungarian Foreign Minister in Budapest by the ranking U.S. diplomat there, Spencer Barnes. It was presented here also to the ranking Hungarian diplomat in Washington, Tibor Zador.

State Department press officer Lincoln White said that "harrassment" of Hungarian visitors to the diplomatic mission of other countries is also known to have occurred in recent weeks. He mentioned specifically the Austrian diplomatic mission as having been under Red police surveillance.

Relations between the United States and the present Hungarian government have been bad ever since the present government was installed with the protection of Russian guns last fall while Soviet forces were crushing the Hungarian Freedom revolt.

Edward T. Wailes, the U.S. minister, was called home from Budapest last month in a gesture of American dislike for the present regime.

The note released by the State Department Thursday said that both uniformed police and plain-clothesmen had been observed in the vicinity of the Legation chancery (the business office), arresting Hungarian citizens "shortly after the latter left the Legation's premises, generally within a short distance from the Legation building."

The United States, the note continued, is not protesting against

"normal verification checks of Hungarian citizens by Hungarian police or other authorities." It added: "In this case, however, the action was so obviously directed specifically against visitors to this Legation that it has constituted interference with the Legation's normal diplomatic and consular activities."

Visiting Finnish Professor: 'Protection Of Civil Rights In U.S. Differs From Finland'

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

The United States and Finland both are "outstanding" in their constitutional protection of civil rights, but the systems are "very different," Dr. Paavo Kastari, professor of constitutional law at the University of Helsinki, said in Lincoln Thursday.

The former solicitor general of Finland, touring America under State Department sponsorship, visited with state officials here to discuss government procedures.

Dr. Kastari said the United States and Finland are the "only two countries in the world which provide constitutional protection of civil rights."

DR. KASTARI, visiting Nebraska Legislature. (Star Photo.)

Judicial Review

He explained their major difference lies in the United States system of judicial review. Finland there is no recourse to its tribunals.

Dr. Kastari said the Finnish Parliament apparently is more powerful than American legislative bodies, for it can pass laws which will stand even though they may be opposed to the country's constitution.

But such laws must have a five-sixths majority vote of the Parliament, Dr. Kastari said, and there is a "very careful" weighing of all evidence before such a law is passed.

American legislative bodies also pass laws which later may be held unconstitutional, but the courts, through the system of judicial review, are the ones to decide the constitutionality.

Unicameral Interesting

Commenting on his trip to Nebraska, Dr. Kastari said he was "especially interested" in the state's unicameral legislative system.

Pointing again to a similarity with Finland, the professor said his country was one of the world's pioneers in the unicameral system, having established a one-house Parliament in 1906.

"Nobody thinks of returning to a bicameral system in Finland," Dr. Kastari declared. "We are very satisfied with the unicameral."

While Nebraska's unicameral Legislature is non-partisan, there are six political parties in Finland. Two of them, the Social Democrats and the Agrarians, are dominant, the Finnish visitor said.

Committee Holds Bill Raising Fees Paid To Sheriffs

The Legislature's Salaries and Claims Committee Thursday heard but held for further study a measure raising from $2 per day to $1 an hour the fee allowed to sheriffs for guarding prisoners and to assistants or guards for transporting prisoners to the Penitentiary.

The measure was co-authored by Senators John Munnely and Hans Jensen.

Also held for further study by the committee was LB 440, which eliminates the $5,400 ceiling on the annual pay of the deputy secretary of state.

Introducers are senators David Tews and Stanley Portersche.

Vote To Strike

YORK, England (AP) — Britain's ship building unions voted to strike March 16 because of a rejected claim for higher wages. The strike would involve about 200,000 workers and would paralyze Britain's huge shipbuilding industry.

The ship builders demanded a 10 per cent increase in pay. The Ship Building Employers' Federation appealed to the unions for a "period of stability."

Summerfield Asks Postal Rate Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield Thursday asked Congress for a penny increase on 3-cent stamps, post cards and air mail.

In a message to speaker of the House Sam Rayburn, Summerfield also proposed increases on second, third and fourth class mail.

He estimated all the increases would produce additional revenues of about $527,500,000 by 1961. The department now is operating with an annual deficit of about 600 million dollars.

The recommended increases are about the same as those passed by the House last year. The Senate failed to act.

'Pay-As-Go'

President Eisenhower asked Congress again this year to adjust postal rates to place the Post Office on a "pay-as-you-go" fiscal basis.

In his legislative proposal, Summerfield said first class mail and fourth class mail, which is parcel post, would pay their own way.

As for the second and third classes, composed mainly of newspapers, magazines, books, catalogs and advertisements, Summerfield asked Congress to consider how much of a public service is performed in sending them through the mails at reduced rates.

He suggested that for services performed by law and having public service aspects, the expenses above revenue should be paid by the general fund of the Treasury and not charged to the postal deficit.

Drop Letters

Briefly, Summerfield proposed: Increase the rate on first class mail from 3 cents to 4 cents an ounce, on drop letters from 2 cents to 3 cents, on post cards from 2 cents to 3 cents. Drop letters are those mailed to postoffices where there is no local delivery and patrons get their mail in postoffice lock boxes.

Increase the rate on domestic airmail from 6 cents to 7 cents an ounce and on air post cards from 4 cents to 5 cents.

Increase the rate on second class mail publications sent out of the county in four annual increments of 15 per cent each year. The increase would not apply to newspapers with a press run of less than 5,000 copies.

Bulk

Increase the individual piece rate on third class mail (except books and catalogs) from 2 cents to 3 cents for the first 2 ounces. Increase the rate on third class matter mailed in bulk, except books and catalogs, from 14 cents per pound to 16 cents.

In fourth class mail, the rate on books would be changed from 8 cents on the first pound and 4 cents on each additional pound to 10 cents on the first pound and 5 cents for each additional pound.

Mrs. Soderberg's Rites Saturday

Funeral services for Mrs. Jennie S. Soderberg, 88, 544 No. 24th, will be at 11 a.m. Saturday at Roper & Sons, the Rev. Harold Sandall officiating. Burial will be in Wyuka.

Mrs. Soderberg, a Lincoln resident 68 years, died Wednesday. Born in Sweden, she came to the United States when she was 20. Her husband, Edward J., whom she married in Lincoln in 1892, died in 1931.

Mrs. Soderberg was a member of Grace Methodist Church.

Surviving are her daughters, Amy Soderberg of Lincoln and Mrs. Helesine Marshall of Des Moines, Ia.; sons, Paul of Howell, Mich., and Allen of Detroit, Mich.; three granddaughters and three sisters in Sweden.

HAD CHURCH SERVICE

MRS. EDWIN KRENK

White candles burning in pedestal candelabra, and tall arrangements of gold-toned gladioli, formed the chancel decor of Grace Methodist Church at Crete for the wedding of Miss Sally Rhea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Rhea, and Edwin Krenk, son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Krenk, all of Crete, on Sunday, March 3. The Rev. Richard E. Atherton read the lines of the 3:30 o'clock service, and Miss Nadean Kruse, organist, played the wedding music and also accompanied Miss Joan Kersenbrock, the vocal soloist.

As her sister's matron of honor, Mrs. Arnold Foster of Lincoln appeared in a frock of narrowly-striped taffeta in shades of gold, brown and beige. Fashioned with a torso basque and full, ballerina-length skirt, her costume was accented by a cummerbund of gold taffeta. Wearing identical costumes of gold taffeta with striped cummerbunds were the bridesmaids, Mrs. Wayne Walsh, Wilber; Mrs. Lowell Dodd, South Sioux City; and Mrs. Charles Rhea, Lincoln. The attendants wore caps of gold lace and carried nosegays of carnations in matching tone. Lighting the candles were Miss Samie Rhea and Miss Sidney Pistner, and the flower girl was Miss Cynthia Dodd.

V. K. Krenk of David City served as best man, and the ushers were: Leonard Krenk, Crete; Tony Krenk, Seward; Francis Albert and Dean Graham, Lincoln. Kim Foster was the ringbearer.

The bride wore for her wedding a gown of white nylon tulle over taffeta embroidered in a floral motif. A high, scalloped collar and long, tapered sleeves accented the snugly-fitted bodice, and tiers of the embroidered tulle formed the very full skirt, which ended in a train. Her illusion veil was held to the head by a coronet of tiny pearls, and she carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses.

A reception for 130 guests was held in the parlors of the church. The bridegroom is a former student at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

TALK OF THE TOWN

THERE'S gay news this morning—Some of it has to do with homecomers—some of it involves guests—past and potential—There's news of a party for a popular bride-elect—and a word or two about an eightsome that has a fun week-end planned—

OUR homecomers are Mr. and Mrs. Ellery Hall Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dobson who returned on Wednesday evening from a holiday spent in Guatemala—

AND our potential guests are Mr. and Mrs. George Underwood of Gainesville, Va., who will be ar-iving in town next Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Underwood will come to Lincoln from San Francisco, and after an overnight stay Mr. Underwood will return to Gainesville—Mrs. Underwood, however, will remain in Lincoln for a longer visit with her brothers and sisters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Unthank and Mr. and Mrs. George Unthank.

And in case your memory needs refreshing—Mrs. Underwood is the former Phyllis Unthank—Pi Beta Phi at Nebraska.

Suburbia

"Umbrellas, cowboy boots and children galore" marked the scene at the Don Hoch home last week. Adding to the excitement in South Hills were the birthday parties given by Mrs. Hoch to honor her son and daughter. Seven-year-old Randy Hoch was entertained on Thursday afternoon, Feb. 28, when several of his first-grade friends from Merle Beattie School were present to extend "happy birthday" wishes. Understand the youngsters were dressed as cowboys and cowgirls to follow the "cowboy boots" theme of the party. Present were Diane Anderson; Jean Becker, Kenny Becker; Gail Bohling, Randy Cossel, Tommy Jett, David Ness, Sarah Srb, Mike Ryan, Nancy Perry and Randy's sister, Vickie.

On Monday afternoon, March 4, Mrs. Hoch entertained her daughter, Vickie, and several of her kindergarten friends from Merle Beattie School at an "umbrella theme" birthday party. Six-year-old Vickie had as her guests Ann Bias, Holli Beadell, Susan Becker, Carolyn Ekstrand, Wendy Frieschnecht, Ginny Glor, Paula Hubertus, Geraldine Shaver, Karen Thompson, Ann Wolff and Vickie's sister, Dana.

Hostesses at a farewell coffee

Guests at the Powell home besides Mrs. Evolga were Mrs. Stephen Mattick, and Mrs. Lynn Ball, Mr. and Mrs. Evolga now are en route to Washington, D.C., where they will reside for six months before going to Spain, Mr. and Mrs. Evolga's daughter, Beverly, is a freshman at the University of Miami in Miami, Fla.

KESSLER HEIGHTS

Kessler Heights shows no sign of lethargy this week. There are showers, bridge club meetings and organizational club gatherings.

Pink and blue table decorations, with a stork in the center, was the setting for the luncheon and shower given by Mrs. Vernon Vogt on Thursday afternoon to honor Mrs. Thomas Hatten. Guests were members of the neighborhood bridge club, who included Mrs. Vernon Walker, Mrs. Emmett Taylor, Mrs. Sidney Spilseth, Mrs. Rolland Dudley, Mrs. John Hoffman, Mrs. James Wirth and the honored guest, Mrs. Hatten. The afternoon was spent playing bridge.

Understand that a Super Dance Club is in the process of organization in the South Hills, Kessler Heights and Country Club Manor areas. ALONG the grapevine route this morning we picked up some news concerning some travelers who doubtless have decided they weren't supposed to go on a cruise after all—There were various obstacles before the cruise really was underway, and we have just heard that the boat developed some difficulties at Martinique, which made the remainder of the cruise impossible—at least on that particular boat.

HEAR that Mrs. Robert Mockett and her young son, Bill, will be leaving Sunday for Washington, D. C., where they will join Lt. Mockett, USN medical corps, who is stationed with the Navy in the Bureau of Medicine, Washington, D. C.

A week from tomorrow (Saturday, March 16) Miss Aitken will be an honoree when Mrs. Gates Minnick is hostess at a morning coffee at her home. Twelve guests have been invited and will present Miss Aitken with a kitchen shower.

AND off to Fremont on Saturday, March 16, will go Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bloom, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Andersen, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Druliner and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jenkins. The members of the eightsome will be the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Lock.

State Car Sale Test Could Save Money

By DAVID K. MARTIN
Associated Press Writer

The next public sale of used state cars will see an experiment which could result in a saving of money for Nebraska, according to State Purchasing Agent Tom Coffey.

Coffey explains it like this: On March 15 when prospective buyers assemble in the Statehouse to bid on used state cars there will be, among about 30 cars up for sale, four 1955 models which are basically similar so far as mileage and general condition are concerned.

However, there's a difference in the manner that the four are being prepared for the sale. One will have the state lettering and white stripe removed, the dents and blemishes repaired and will be thoroughly cleaned inside and out. The second will be cleaned and repaired, but will still have the lettering and white stripe of a state-owned car. The third will be cleaned, unpainted and unrepaired; and the fourth will be in the same condition it was when last used by the state.

How Profitable Is Work?

The object of the experiment is to see how much money car number one brings in the bidding, compared with the other three. On the basis of the sale it can then be determined how profitable it is for the state to "spruce up" its automobiles before putting them up for sale.

Coffey is optimistic about the outcome. "We use Reformatory labor to fix up the cars," he explained, "so it certainly doesn't cost us much. Anything over the $750-800 we usually get for two-year old model cars is almost entirely money in the bank for the state."

This trial, incidentally, will not be the first time Coffey has tried an experiment in raising money. At the last car sale in December, the purchasing department for the first time advertised the sale in newspapers. Then, to see how well the advertising paid off, the department marked bid lists so that it could be determined which prospective buyers came to the sale as a result of newspaper advertising and which were there because of the old system of direct mail advertising.

Advertising Paid Off

The result? "Advertising really paid off," Coffey said. "We had about 120 at the sale, the largest we've ever had." The usual turnout, he explained runs between 50 and 60 persons, including everyone from car dealers to teen-aged "hot-rodders."

The prices paid for used cars have been averaging about the same as the nationally listed wholesale used car prices, Coffey said. With wider publicity to the sales, more care in repairing and cleaning up the cars and, due to a newly enacted state law, a variety of colors in the cars, Coffey is confident that the state will receive a larger payment for its old automobiles.

Teachers Given Hike In Salaries

All of the present teachers' contracts were renewed by the board.

Kriz Heads Rotarians

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. — New president of the Grand Island Rotary Club is Robert Kriz, succeeding Dr. James S. Chubb. Other officers are Harold Harrington, vice president, and Fred Meyer, secretary.

ORD BLOOD DONATIONS TOP RECORD

Lincoln Star Special

ORD, Neb. — A record number of pints of blood was donated during the 13th visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile to Ord, according to Mrs. Clark Weckbach, chairman of the donation campaign.

Of 203 prospective donors, 186 were accepted, topping all previous donations here. Henry Benda has given fifteen pints of blood to the bank and 10 new members were added to the gallon club, making a total of 54 members.

The Valley County Extension Clubs were in charge of recruiting donors, the VFW Auxiliary served as clerical workers and the American Legion Auxiliary furnished canteen workers. The Rebecca Lodge of North Loup served the noon workers' dinner.

Sen. Hruska's Father Dies; Once Educator

OMAHA (P)—Joseph C. Hruska, 81, father of Sen. Roman Hruska (R-Neb.), died Thursday after a long illness.

The elder Hruska, a native of Czechoslovakia, was brought to the United States by his parents as an infant. He taught school in Iowa and Nebraska and served three terms as Butler County, Neb., superintendent of schools. The family moved to Omaha in 1917 and operated a painting and interior decorating business until his retirement.

Bohemian Club Head

He was a past president of the Western Bohemian Fraternal Association, Lodge Slovan No. 78. Other survivors include seven sons, three daughters, three sisters, 24 grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren.

His children, in addition to Sen. Hruska are: Arthur J., Herman H., Joseph L. and James M., all of Omaha; Edward E. of Concord, Calif.; Richard H. of Fresno, Calif.; Victor E., Ponte Vedra, Fla.; Mrs. O. J. Kolar, La Grange, Ill.; Mrs. Frank R. Lastovica and Mrs. Frank J. Chapek, both of Omaha. Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at Sokol auditorium.

Twelve pages of wholesome colored comics, feature stories with plenty of pictures and the big entertainment section are a few reasons why nearly everyone reads The "Sunday Journal and Star."

Sales-Income Tax Bill Survives Attempt To Kill In Committee

A bill proposing a combination sales-income tax in Nebraska survived an attempt in committee to kill it Thursday.

A motion in the Legislature's revenue Committee to indefinitely postpone the measure could muster only two votes. Four are required.

As a result, LB 134 still rests in committee.

The move to kill came at an executive session after a public hearing on another sales tax bill, Sen. Terry Carpenter's permissive bill allowing counties to enact a two per cent sales tax if they chose.

Opposition Moderate

Carpenter's bill, LB 512, drew only moderate opposition at the hearing.

A motion was made in executive session to kill the Carpenter bill.

also, but the motion received only one affirmative vote.

The same effort was made on LB 241, a bill to increase state liquor taxes. It, too, got only two votes to kill and both LB 512 and LB 241 remain in committee.

Amendments Approved

Three amendments to his LB 512 were proposed by Sen. Carpenter and approved by the committee.

They eliminate the mandatory provision that the county sales tax fully replace property taxes at that level, and in effect give county commissioners authority to determine how revenue should be distributed among the political subdivisions of the county.

Sen. Carpenter told the committee the attorney general has held LB 512 to be constitutional. He said he doesn't believe the county sales tax would replace property taxes but would "stabilize" them.

'Available'

The device should be made available should a situation arise which might lead a county to need such a tax method, he said.

Carpenter said he believes if enough counties should adopt the sales tax, this "would preclude a state sales tax."

Arthur Bradley Jr., representing the Assn. of Omaha Taxpayers, expressed fear that under the bill, a proposal to levy a two per cent sales tax as a total replacement for property taxes at the county level and below might be put to a vote of the people and be approved.

In Douglas County's case the sales tax might yield eight million dollars, while 13 million are needed, he said.

Collection Cost

George Wruck of Associated Retailers of Omaha objected to costs and labor of collection which would be borne by the retailer.

Carpenter said he would have no objection to an amendment giving the retailer a small part of the revenue for collecting the tax.

O. D. Menefee, representing the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, also appeared in opposition. The sales tax would bring "creeping paralysis" to business men in the counties adopting it, he argued.

LANCASTER COMMISSIONER BACKS SALES-INCOME TAX PROPOSAL

Lancaster County Commissioner Del Lienemann said Thursday night he has backed the sales-income tax bill—LB 134, which just survived a motion to kill it in committee—although he had opposed the straight sales tax bill which was killed earlier.

He said the combination bill "amounts to a local sales tax" and would provide relief on the local level, "where the bulk of total tax funds go."

Lienemann said he has "no objection to having on the books" LB 512, permissive legislation allowing counties to enact a two per cent sales tax if they choose.

That bill was advanced to the floor Thursday after it drew only moderate opposition at a Revenue Committee hearing. No Lancaster County Board members appeared at the hearing.

Lienemann said he doubts that any county ever would enact such a tax unless neighboring counties also did, and there is little chance Douglas County, for one, ever would do so.

YORK, Neb. — George W. Shaw, 63, resident of York County for more than 40 years, died at Rochester, Minn., where he had gone for medical treatment.

Born in Chase County, he lived near Thayer before coming to York.

Surviving are his wife, Lillie; two sons, Wendell of Polk and Harold of Lincoln; one daughter, Mrs. J. F. Ehlers of Waco; seven grandchildren and two sisters.

Junior College Aid Bill Moves To General File

The Legislature's Education Committee Thursday advanced to general file a bill that would appropriate $200,000 from the state's general fund to Nebraska's four public junior colleges.

The bill, LB 267, introduced by Senators Arnold Ruhnke, Don Thompson, David Tews and Terry Carpenter, passed the committee hurdle by a 4-2 vote.

Under the bill's provisions, $50,000 would be divided among junior colleges at Norfolk, Scottsbluff, McCook and Fairbury on July 1 by the commissioner of education.

The remainder of the $200,000 would be given to the schools semi-annually thereafter.

The education commissioner would apportion the funds according to the total number of credit hours for which all students are registered in each junior college on Oct. 15 and Feb. 15 of each year.

No opposition appeared at the hearing and testimony favoring the bill came from officials of the four schools and the State Education Department.

Sen. George Syas, Omaha member of the Education Committee, said after hearing that he is opposed to the bill "as it now stands." He said there is feeling in Omaha that Omaha University should be included in the bill, too, since it is set up as a municipal school in the same manner as the four junior colleges.

However, Syas said, such inclusion should be based only on students registered in the first two years of Omaha University's four-year course.

In other action, the committee advanced LB 350, a committee-sponsored bill which would exempt from certificate requirements persons teaching "exclusively in junior colleges organized as part of the public school system."

Two Truck Bills Killed

Heavy fire from representatives of the state's motor carrier industry Thursday helped kill in legislative committee two bills which would have put further controls on truckers.

LB 575, which reclassifies certain trucks and truck tractors for registration, and a sister bill, LB 576, which would have regulated the transportation of certain commodities by motor carriers, were both indefinitely postponed by the Agriculture Committee on a 4-2 vote.

Opponents of the measures, both introduced by Sen. Peter Clausen of Leigh, labeled the bills "confusing and unworkable" and contended that passage would cause an increase in shipping rates for the farmer.

In other action, three bills held in committee were passed out to the floor of the Legislature on a 4-2 vote. They were:

LB 395, introduced by Sen. Don Thompson of McCook, which would add Harlan County to the Nebraska brand inspection area.

LB 427, introduced by Senators J. W. Burbach of Crofton and Harold Stryker of Rains City, which revises statutes relating to public grain warehouses.

LB 428, a sister bill to LB 427 and also introduced by Burbach and Stryker, which provides the provisions of the itinerant merchant act shall not apply to grain.

Committee Kills Bill To Permit Branch Banks

A measure permitting banks to establish and maintain other offices in the same county or an adjoining county Thursday was killed by the Legislature's Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee.

LB 382, introduced by Sen. Arnold Ruhnke, was indefinitely postponed on a 4-2 committee vote.

In other committee action, a measure requiring two estimates on a motor vehicle involved in an accident in which damage is more than $300, was advanced to the floor on a unanimous vote. LB 491 was introduced by Sen. Sam Klaver.

The committee also heard but held LB 528, which increases from $5 to $15 license fees charged security salesmen and brokers.

That measure was introduced by Senators Otto Kotouc Sr., LeRoy Bahensky and Mervin Bedford.

Geist Again Heads Lincoln Y's Men

Elected to the board of directors were Harold Graham, Don Harrington Jr., and James Watkins.

Upsets Hit Tourney Favorites

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Writer

Top-rated Nebraska high school teams fell like ten-pins Thursday night as eliminations for the State Tournament continued.

It was one of the biggest nights for upsets in several years of district tourney action.

Top shockers came in the opening round of the No. 1 Omaha AA regional tournament.

Unrated Omaha Benson slapped a convincing 53-40 stunner on Fremont, the No. 1 team in the state. The loss snapped a 14-game Tiger winning streak.

No sooner was Fremont ousted than Omaha North—the 1956 surprise team—stepped into a familiar role and socked sixth-rated Omaha Central, 51-46. North also was unrated.

Class C had its share of surprises, too.

Hastings St. Cecilia, ranked No. 1, dropped a one-point decision to unbeaten Trenton in the top game.

Other 'C' clashes that wound up in the upset class included Arnold's 58-52 win over highly-touted Hay Springs, and Palmyra's 51-39 thumping of Seward Concordia.

Class A action saw defending champion, but unrated, Falls City hand a 54-49 defeat on ninth-rated Omaha Westside.

In the not-so-surprising bracket, both Classes D and E were represented.

Two Points For Marvin

Marvin Bauer, University High's classy guard, soars in the air as he lays in two points for the Tutors in their Class B playoff game with Valley at Taylor gym Thursday night. Valley's Jerry Otte attempts to block the shot but no one was to deny Magic Marvin on this occasion. Mel Growcock, also of Valley stands by to get a rebound if needed. Uni High won easily in the contest to earn a state tournament berth. (Star Photo).

Tutors To State; Hit Valley 51-35

University High, playing without center J. V. Olson, swept past Valley, 51-35, in the Class B playoff at Nebraska Wesleyan Thursday night and into the Class B field of the State Basketball Championships at the NU Coliseum next week.

Olson was sidelined by doctor's orders. Whether he will be able to play next week, Coach Dale Snook said wouldn't be known for a few days.

Fremont Ousted By Benson

OMAHA (P) — Fremont's state title bid and 14 game winning streak was smashed Thursday night by Omaha Benson when the Bunnies outran the tigers for a 53-40 win in the first round of the Class AA "North Omaha" basketball regional.

Fremont, the state's top ranked team and Big Ten conference champion, whipped Benson, 51-32, in the regular season.

But Thursday night the Bunnies were in full steam and Fremont, off its best pace, never could get a good offense going.

The teams battled through a ragged first quarter to a 10-10 tie. Then Charles Witt sent Benson ahead with a pair of free throws and the Bunnies never trailed.

Things appeared a bit dark for Benson with 5:21 left when big Jim Daley fouled out. The score was 40-36 and Fremont appeared set for a closing drive.

Then again Witt came to the rescue. He sank two more free throws — he had nine of 10 for the game — and when Bob Huber and Fred Kauffman connected for fielders it was all over.

The Fremont upset was followed by one almost as astounding when Omaha North mowed down Omaha Central, 51-46.

Central was rated in the top five of the state while North had no recognition at all.

After North broke a 6-6 tie in the first period the Vikings were never headed and managed a 23-20 half-time lead.

Ed Van Vliet led the North scoring with 24 points and Howard Waterman gave Central a bad time under the boards to pace the upset.

No Seniors On All Big Ten Quintet

CHICAGO (P) — The fact that nary a senior player earned a first-team berth features The Associated Press' 1957 All-Big Ten basketball team.

Five juniors and a sophomore were named to the six-man squad with Michigan State's co-champions grabbing two spots.

Archie Dees, 6-8 center of Indiana's co-champions, and Ohio State's Frank Howard were unanimous choices of the eight AP sports writers who blanket the Western Conference. George Kline of Minnesota, Don Ohl of Illinois and Jack Quiggle and John Green of Michigan State made up the first team.

Named to the second team were Larry Hedden, Michigan State; Jed Dommeier, Minnesota; Harv Schmidt, Illinois; Ron Kramer, Michigan; and Dick Neal, Indiana.

Receiving honorable mention were Bob Litzow, Wisconsin; Joe Ruklick, Northwestern; George Ferguson, Michigan State; Bill Greve, Lamar Lundy and Joe Campbell, Purdue; Halie Bryant, Indiana; Ken Sidle and Gene Miland, Ohio State; Roger Taylor, Illinois; George Lee, Michigan; Dave Tucker, Minnesota; Augie Martel, Dave Gunther and Clarence Wordlaw, Iowa.

Warriors Tounce Pistons, 114-100

PHILADELPHIA (P) — The Philadelphia Warriors moved a full game in front of Syracuse in the torrid battle for second place in the National Basketball Assn's Eastern Division Thursday night by trouncing Ft. Wayne 114-100 in the second half of a doubleheader before 5,176 at the Arena.

Syracuse was upset by New York in the opener 99-94 and leads the Nicks by only 1½ games for third place.

Uldis Levalds filled in for Olson and the Tutors were in charge all of the way.

Sonny Sader peppered in 8 points in the first period to lead the Tutors to a 14-10 lead. Marv Bauer and Bob Larsen joined in during the second quarter and by half-time it was 32-22.

That lead was all Snook wanted. He sent his club into a semistall at the start of the second half and Valley's chances were ended.

The polished Tutors ran their lead to 17 points at 39-22 on five points by Bauer and a couple of free tosses by Larsen.

Valley went six minutes in the third period before Mel Growcock hit a couple of free throws. Valley got just three shots in the third quarter and hit two of them. It was 41-28 at the end of the third period.

Marvin Braha got a couple of charity tosses to open the fourth period and the 41-30 score was a close as the Terriers could come.

Bauer added three straight baskets and Valley went another four minutes before hitting a fielder.

Bauer wound up with 21 points to head the scoring pack. Larsen and Sader had 12 apiece.

Growcock paced Valley with 12. Jerry Otte, one of Valley's top scorers, was held to just four points by the tight Tutor defense.

Falls City Advances To Finals

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb. (P) — Falls City, defending Class A state basketball champion, moved to the finals of the regional tourney Thursday night via a 54-49 win over Omaha Westside.

The champions held an 18-17 halftime lead and in the last minute, with Westside pressing at 50-49, wrapped up the game on free tosses by Jim Poage and Lamar Gibson.

Bob Gibson led Falls City with nine fielders for 18 points and Rod Foster scored the same for Westside with seven fielders and four gift tosses.

Omaha Holy Name trimmed Plattsmouth, 50-49, to qualify for a finals battle with Falls City Friday night.

Plattsmouth held a 49-48 lead with 29 seconds left. Then Holy Name, bringing the ball down floor, managed to get a pass to Bob Eickholt in the key-hole and big Bob hit for the winning basket.

Eickholt led the Holy Name scoring with 19 points and Bob Beveridge had 21 for Plattsmouth.

Big Seven basketball fans certainly can class themselves among the nation's blessed. It isn't often that two players from the same conference are All Americans, but that's the case this year.

Early in February Husker followers got to watch Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain—in person and via television—and Saturday night they can see Gary Thompson.

She stomped her foot and got out of there."

Now married to his high school sweetheart, Gary plans to try his hand at AAU basketball after graduation. The Phillips Oilers, Goodyear, Peoria Caterpillars and the Denver-Chicago Truckers are interested in the Rocket.

Nebraska fans will be seeing one of the most colorful and polished All Americans to come by in a long time when they watch Gary Thompson bow out Saturday night.

Husker fans will also see the greatest scorer in Nebraska history in his farewell appearance Saturday night.

Rex Ekwall, a Nebraska small town boy (Homesville), will be playing his last game in NU livery. He has 835 points—a Husker record for career scoring and will be padding the total against the Cyclones.

Rex has been a great credit to Nebraska's basketball program, a real competitor and a fine example of and for Huskerland youth.

The Nebraska-Iowa State game will provide quite a battle between two All Big Seven stars, both of whom came from rural communities in their respective state and proceeded to rewrite the record books at the college of their choice.

"NU Fan" offers a plan designed to increase "spirit" and "school pride" at Nebraska basketball games.

"Other schools have an Alma Mater song and play it before every game. All the fans stand and join in the singing and it's really impressive.

"Since almost everyone knows 'There Is No Place Like Nebraska,' how about having all the fans stand and sing the song when the Huskers take the floor at the start of a game?"

Well, how about it? The Iowa State game would be a good testing ground for the idea. And the Cornhuskers will be able to use all the support possible.

High scoring honors for the losing Fairmont quintet were taken by Bill Crawford with a total of 8 points.

In the other semi-final game Palmyra pulled a mild upset by defeating Seward Concordia 51-39.

Hastings, Scottsbluff AA Victors

NORTH PLATTE (P)—Excellent long shooting by Bill Nelson piloted Scottsbluff to a 61-48 win over Kearney in the Class AA Nebraska regional here Thursday night and then Hastings followed with an upset win over North Platte, 55-47.

Nelson hit nine fielders as Kearney gave the Scottsbluff five a rougher time than expected, especially in the first half. Kearney led by 12-7 at the quarter and was behind at 25-21 at the half.

North Platte seemed to be on the way to an easy win over Hastings at the half when the Bulldogs were out in front 26-15.

Then the Tigers got hot as the third period ended and came up fast as they got 16 points to two for North Platte. Hastings grabbed the lead with 5-43 of the last period gone and stayed out in front.

President Backs Pan-Am Games

No Comment On $5 Million Appropriation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower put his prestige Thursday behind the movement—which is in trouble—to stage the Pan American Games in Cleveland with the help of five million dollars in federal money.

Asserting he was unaware of protests in Congress, to the effect this would be a waste of money, the President told a questioner at his news conference:

"I believe that the Pan American Games will do a very great deal of good . . . to solidify relations with South—with all of Latin America.

"Now I am not going to speculate about the appropriation, because it has not been brought to my attention. But it was my understanding that about that sum (five million) was needed to make these games a success."

The games, a sort of Olympics of the Western Hemisphere, are scheduled to be held in 1959 with Latin American and U.S. representatives participating.

They have been held twice before. At Buenos Aires in 1951, Argentina was the winner. At Mexico City in 1955 the United States won.

The total cost is figured at 13 million dollars, with Cleveland, Cuyahoga County and Ohio supplying the remaining eight million.

Despite the President's approval, there are strong indications that certain segments in Congress, bent on cutting the budget, are out to kill the federal appropriation.

Among the opponents is Sen. Lausche (D-Ohio), a former mayor of Cleveland, who says federal money should not be spent on a "non-essential" event.

If all the money were forthcoming, Cleveland would get a big new stadium worth 3 to 3½ million dollars, a swimming pool costing one-half to one million dollars, and an enclosed motorcycle and bicycle track costing $300,000.

Rosenbluth Sets Mark In Tourney

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Wake Forest's possession-minded Deacons never trailed Thursday night as they trimmed defending champion North Carolina State 66-57 in a first round Atlantic Coast Conference basketball tournament game.

The victory sends Wake Forest against North Carolina Friday in the semifinals for a fourth time this season. The unbeaten, top-seeded Tar Heels clipped Clemson 81-61 as their All-America ace Lenie Rosenbluth scored a record 45 points.

South Carolina and Maryland, the first round winners, meet in Friday night's second game.

Bill Murphy, a sophomore reserve, dropped in four pressure fouls in the last 49 seconds to enable second-seeded Maryland to slip by Virginia 71-68. Maryland's semifinal opponent Friday night will be South Carolina, which eliminated third-seeded Duke 84-81.

National scoring leader Grady Wallace carried South Carolina from behind with five points in the last 26 seconds to engineer the upset of Duke.

Wallace scored 41 points, one short of the old tournament record.

Hart 4-1 Choice Over Walt Byars

NEW YORK (AP)—Garnett (Sugar) Hart, Philadelphia's slick, young welterweight, is a 4-1 choice to stretch his winning streak to 13 Friday night when he faces Walt Byars, another eager newcomer from Boston, in a television 10-rounder.

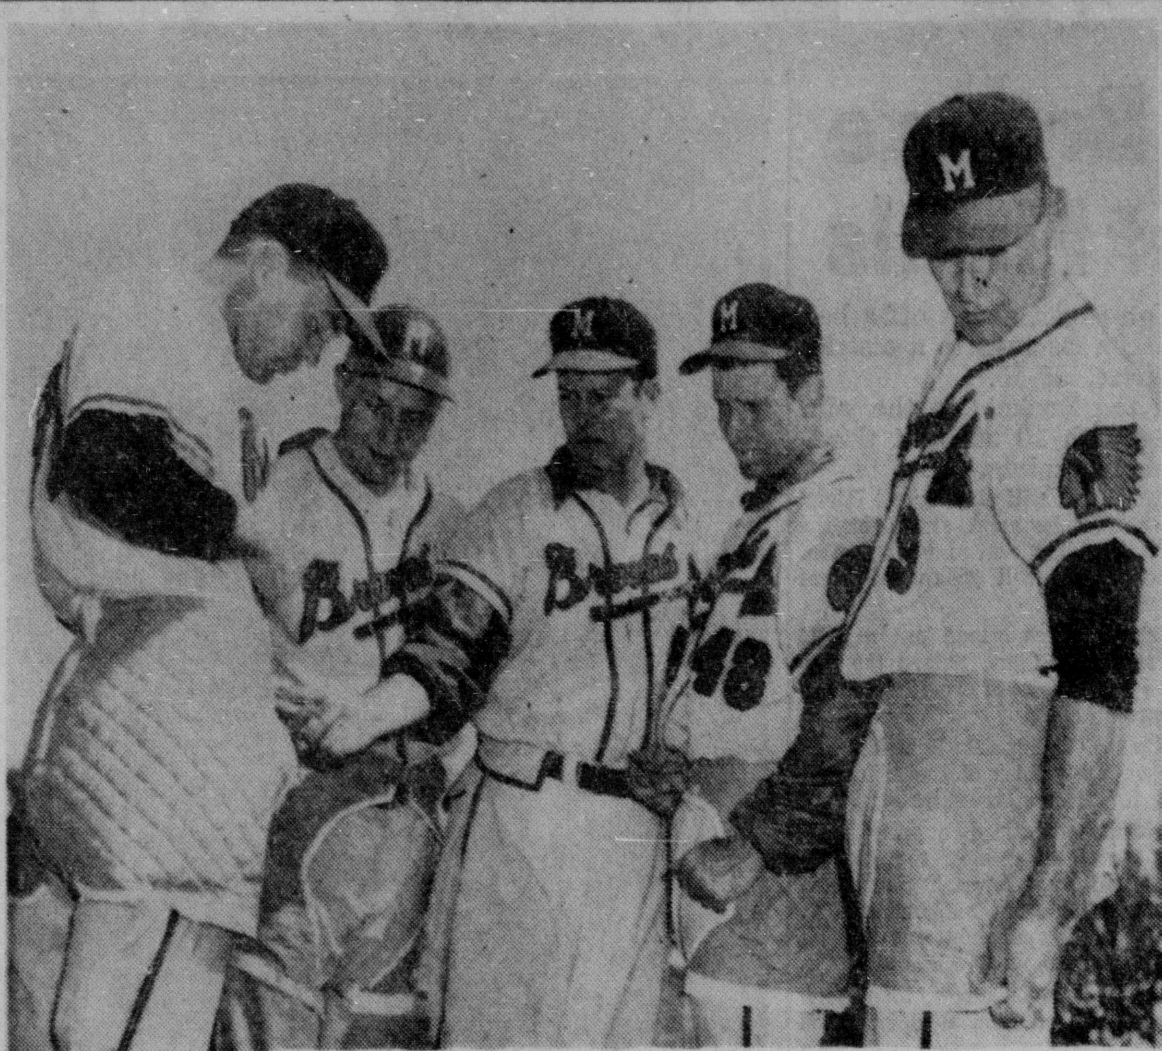

The two unranked but highly regarded 147-pounders will be making their Madison Square Garden debuts. The bout will be broadcast and telecast (NBC, 9 p.m., CST) coast to coast.

Hart, asking 21-year-old puncher, already has earned nationwide attention with several TV fights and 12 straight victories. His last seven were by knockouts. His record is 20-1, including 18 kayos. The lone loss was a one-round knockout by Fred Terry in his ninth fight.

NU Manager Cops Big 7 Charity Title

The University of Nebraska has lost all hope of the Big Seven basketball championship by now as Kansas emerged victorious just Wednesday night. And the Huskers may not finish in the loop's first division.

But one important member of the Husker traveling squad has already sewed up a loop championship.

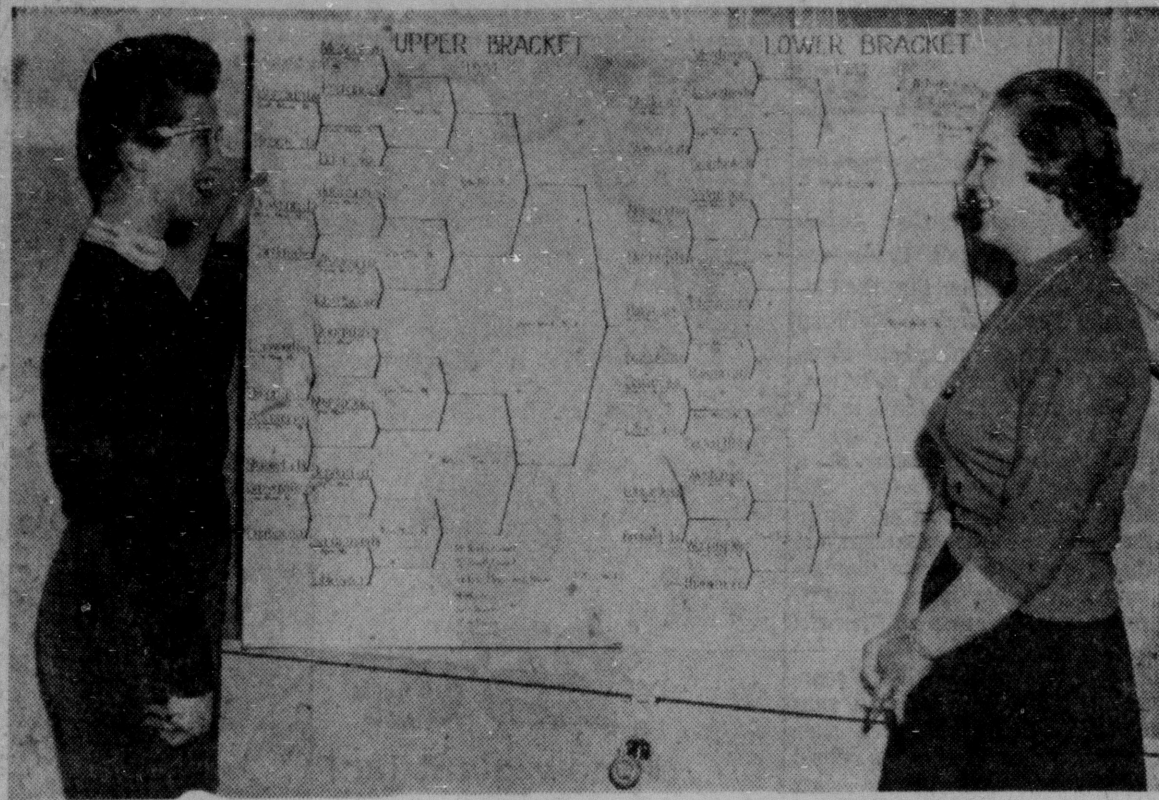

The Husker winner is student manager Lloyd Castner and the championship is the free throw title among conference managers.

Castner sewed up the title in a tight-knit battle with Oklahoma University's manager Wednesday night. The NU manager sunk nine of ten attempts at the line while the Sooner follower hit eight of ten.

This gives Castner a clean sweep in the conference in the student managerial ranks and gives NU its first title since the Huskers tied for the league crown in 1949.

Castner is a senior in the University's Business Administration school and is completing his third year as a Husker manager.

The Sidney native plans to enroll in the University of Kansas' city management training program after his graduation this June.

As Lincoln's Barnett Goes, So Do Crimson

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — If Bob Barnett can close his college basketball career with a flourish Saturday, Harvard's best cage squad in a decade has a chance to do likewise.

The finishing touch in question is a victory over Yale, the team that snapped Harvard's six-game winning streak last Saturday. The Elis are currently riding high on top of the Ivy League with a 10-2 record, and figure as heavy favorites for their second win over the Crimson Saturday.

Barnett, whose defensive play has already helped the Harvard quintet to its best record and its first winning season in ten years, now has begun to move up in the scoring column as the campaign draws to a close.

The six-foot guard from Lincoln, Neb., dropped in 13 points in Harvard's 65-56 win over Princeton, which capped the six-game string, and twelve in the 75-67 loss to Yale. If Barnett, who's not generally regarded as a scoring threat, can keep up his accelerated pace, the Crimson could give Yale a real fight in the season's finale.

"Barnett has been playing very good basketball in our last several games," comments coach Floyd Wilson. "In the last three-quarters of the season, he's been breaking out offensively—hitting between 10 and 13 points per game."

Barnett played his best game of the year—possibly the best of his career—against Princeton. He made terrific off-balance shots and continually set up others; and in his own element, defense, Barnett was as effective as ever.

York Industry Aid Questioned

A reply brief was filed with the State Supreme Court Thursday by attorneys for the defendant city of York in a legal question involving the validity of certain state laws. The question will be argued in the high court Friday.

The question involved is whether the legislature may authorize village boards and city councils to issue revenue bonds in unlimited amounts — without a vote of the people — in order to build and equip factories and plants to be leased out to private concerns and operated solely for private profit.

The test case was brought to the high court last year by Attorney General Clarence S. Beck on direction of the governor.

Under LB 375 of 1953 the attorney general charged that the city of York, acting through members of the city council, entered into an agreement in 1955 that upon completion of certain industrial buildings, the city would purchase them through revenue bonds issued under a provision — LB 375 — passed by the 1953 Legislature.

The attorney general questioned the constitutionality of the act, and questioned whether factories operated for private profit are serving a public purpose and whether public funds can be appropriated for their use.

The state alleged the act is in violation of the constitution and asked that the city of York be permanently enjoined from carrying out the agreement. The Legislature, the opinion asserted, may not authorize public or municipal corporations which it creates to give or loan the public money or credit to private corporations.

In the brief filed Thursday, attorneys for the city of York contended that the principal arguments of the attorney general against LB 375 are political and legislative in nature — not judicial.

They maintained that the bill "is a valid exercise of legislative power, and the court cannot substitute its judgment for that of the Legislature concerning the wisdom of such legislation."

The defendants in an earlier brief said that the act provides for the issuance of revenue bonds payable solely from the income or rentals from the municipally owned properties.

LB 375, introduced by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff before the 1953 Legislature, provides for the acquisition, purchase, construction of industrial buildings by cities and villages, and authorizes the issuance of revenue bonds for financing such industrial buildings.

Mathematician Is Likened To An Artist

A creative mathematician was likened to an artist Thursday evening by Dr. M. A. Basoco, professor of mathematics at the University of Nebraska.

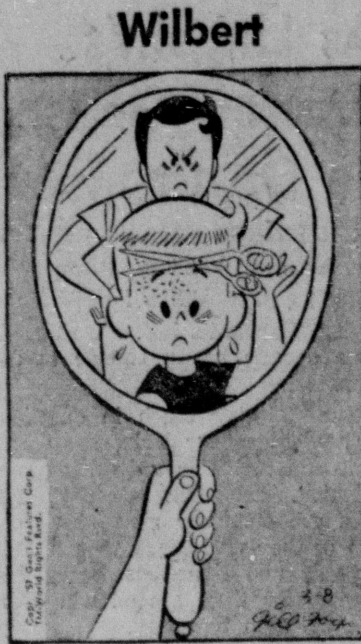

Speaking to the monthly meeting of Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic society, Dr. Basoco said a mathematician works in a similar atmosphere. Considerations of an essentially aesthetic nature enter into his judgments, he said.

"Questions of simplicity, symmetry, order, harmonious relationships, all play a role in his thinking."

Turn Of Century View Formal
He explained that at the turn of the century there emerged a point of view which regards mathematics as a purely formal system; "an abstraction which by itself, without interpretation, says nothing about the empirical world."

Dr. Basoco continued: "The axiom systems relevant to a particular bit of mathematics may be looked upon as inventions of the mathematician. There are inventions very much in the sense that are may be regarded as the invention of the artist: as creations rather than discoveries."

"The imagination of the mathematician, guided by aesthetic considerations within the framework of logic, is the source of these creations which constitutes modern mathematics."

POLK, Neb. (AP)—A farmer living two miles from Polk recently sold eight roosters to the Farmers Produce Co. here.

Retention Of Line Urged By Gov. Anderson

ALBION, Neb. (AP)—Gov. Anderson told an Interstate Commerce Commission examiner that the Chicago and North Western Railroad should not be permitted to abandon its Oakdale-Scribner spur line.

The railroad claims the line has not been operating profitably. Gov. Anderson appeared at a week long hearing before Examiner Robert Rovero of Washington and told the examiner the railroad ought to operate the line a couple of years more to see if a profit can be made in "normal times."

He pointed out that all six counties through which the line runs are in a drought disaster area and said many businesses would be hampered or forced to close if the line is abandoned.

A railroad spokesman replied that farmers in drought areas have been "subsidized" but railroads have not.

U.S. Money Pool For Needy Nations Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was advised by a special board Thursday that the United States should create a pool of money which could be tapped by needy countries — allies and neutrals alike — to develop their economies.

"It should be the sole United States agency for long term economic growth in the underdeveloped areas," the International Development Advisory Board said.

The board's report was made public by its chairman, Eric Johnston, who is president of the Motion Picture Association of America.

It said this money pool should be administered by the International Co-operation Administration (ICA) which runs the foreign aid program. It suggested a name: International Development Fund.

And it staked out the fund's purpose:

"To promote economic progress, to avert a lapse into economic stagnation."

Johnston's report said Congress should appropriate enough money to keep the fund going for at least three years. He specified no amount but called for enough to permit "a substantial increase in capital investment and technical assistance programs."

The report stressed that economic aid to underdeveloped countries should be separated from military aid. And it said:

"In many instances today, a dollar spent for economic development assistance abroad will produce a more permanent security for our nation than a dollar spent on military assistance."

Major emphasis would be on long-term easy pay loans rather than on outright grants. But countries too poor to repay such loans would get help free.

Johnston told a news conference he envisaged the proposed fund as "a kind of RFC". He recalled that during America's depression days the Reconstruction Finance Corporation "took risks that private banks couldn't take."

He said there was no intention to displace current economic aid agencies or programs, but rather to supplement them. He said the fund would fill a near vacuum in the field of long term economic development aid — for such big projects as dams, power plants and other basic industries.

In advocating a separate-from-military status for economic aid, the Johnston report said:

"The present intermingling of military and economic assistance — both budgetwise and in the public mind — has created misunderstanding at home and suspicions abroad."

TODAY— Start Helping Your Child Grow Bigger and Stronger 12 Ways with WONDER BREAD!

Note the 12 Ways Wonder Bread Contributes To An Adequate Diet And Thus Helps Your Child Grow Bigger And Stronger

—See Comparisons With Meat, Milk, Fish, Eggs And Other Foods

Your big problem in child nutrition is to get them to eat enough of the substantial foods they must have for normal physical and mental development.

Which means a well-balanced diet of protein, fat, carbohydrates, vitamins and minerals, such as come in meats, milk, eggs, fruit, green-leafed and yellow vegetables.

And Wonder Bread, which helps supply your child with protein for growth, carbohydrates for energy and many vitamins and minerals for normal development.

12 Ways To Grow

Wonder Bread contains 12 essential food elements that help your child grow normally.

The amounts of these 12 food elements in Wonder Bread are compared with similar amounts contained in other foods.

This does not suggest that Wonder Bread take the place of these other foods. Or that your child is deficient in any of these elements, particularly cobalt, copper, zinc and manganese.

However, the fact is Wonder Bread does contain each of the 12 food elements approximately in the amounts shown.

And, as leading nutrition specialists have pointed out, each one of the 12 is important in nutrition.

Thus, when you give Wonder Bread to your child, you know you are helping your child grow bigger and stronger 12 ways.

This suggests that you do 3 things:

- (1) Start your child eating 8 slices of Wonder Bread today.
- (2) Measure your child's height and weigh him today.
- (3) See how height and weight increase in 3 months; 6 months; each year.

Fresh And Tender

You should have no trouble getting your child to eat plenty of Wonder Bread.

Because fresh Wonder Bread has a tender texture and crust; a mouth-watering aroma. And—Wonder Bread makes perfect toast.

Get Wonder Bread fresh from your grocer today.

And start helping your child grow bigger and stronger 12 ways.

Continental Baking Company, Inc.

BUY WONDER BREAD TODAY...Weigh And Measure Your Child Every 3 Months

TO MOTHERS OF CHILDREN UNDER 12 YEARS OLD:

1. Your child needs about TWICE the protein for proper growth per pound of body weight as an adult.

2. The lumberjack burns about 3 calories of energy per pound of body weight—the running girl about 4.

WONDER BREAD is a good source of protein and energy.

1 MUSCLE

As much Protein as a serving of roast sirloin of beef.

2 BONES & TEETH

As much Calcium for bones and teeth as in a helping of cottage cheese.

3 BODY CELLS

Gov. Victor Anderson reportedly was ready Thursday to sign the Legislature's "warehouse" bill. The governor made no statement to this effect but speculation indicated he would sign the measure, with the emergency clause attached. One of the forces affecting his signing, it was reported, was the strong support the measure received in the Legislature as the bill was passed for the second time.

the measure would require all warehousemen to furnish a list of all goods, except used household goods, to county assessors. Previously the warehousemen were required only to assist the assessors in determining the goods held in storage.

Passed, Recalled

The bill, LB 129, had been held over at the request of opponents of the measure and had even been passed and sent to the governor last Thursday, only to be called back.

Thursday the measure was the subject of some debate and much confusion on the parliamentary handling of the motions to kill, reconsider, and give back to the governor.

One of the primary factors involved in the bill, according to force last Thursday in the Statehouse, is the in-transit shipment of goods being stored in the warehouses in the state.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff was sole introducer of the measure which up until a week or so ago was a little thought of piece of legislation.

On the floor Thursday, Carpenter objected to any moves to amend the bill after a move to reconsider was voted down 26-9. Another move to hold the bill over, by Sen. Tom Dooley, who made both motions, was laid aside 24-10.

As it went along, the bill gained strength and wound up with a 35-4 backing to send it to the governor.

Sen. Carpenter on the floor said the warehousemen were "totally insincere" and "want to provide a ophole" through amending the bill. The warehousemen "want to evade" paying taxes, Carpenter said — "those taxes they have evaded in the past."

The senator said he didn't want any "special consideration given to any group" and did not "care to be a party to a subterfuge."

Sen. Tom Dooley, who lost his motion to hold the bill over, said he was not for "taking anything off the tax rolls." Purpose of holding the bill, Dooley said, was to prepare an amendment.

Carpenter gained support from

Sens. Monroe Bixler of Harrison and Marvin Lautenschlager of Grand Island.

Sen. Bixler questioned if the time delay wasn't requested to "give them (the warehousemen) time to exert additional pressure."

The final move to send the bill back to the governor saw only Sens. Vogel, Simmons, Aufenkamp, and Beaver voting against the move.

The heavy vote in favor of the bill would mean it had sufficient support of the needed 26 votes to override a governor's veto.
